DISPELS THE GLOOM.

The Revenues of the Nation Will Exceed the Expenses.

Letter of Secretary Carlisle, in Response to Resolution of Inquiry, Read in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Secretary Carlisle submitted a letter of information to the senate today which dissipates the gloomy forebodings as to a lack of revenue to carry on the government. It is in response to a resolution of inquiry adopted last week. The text of the letter is as follows:

"In reply to the senate resolution of January 28, 1895, that the secretary of the treasury be directed to inform the senate what is the estimated deficiency in the revenues of the government for the year and expenses between the 31st day of December, 1894, and the 31st day of December, 1895, and if the $153,337,579 99 cash balance in the treasury on the 31st day of December, 1894, will be sufficient to meet such deficiency, I have the honor to state that from estimates made upon the basis of laws now in force, it is believed that for the twelve months ending December 31, 1895, the revenues of the government from all sources will exceed ordinary expenditures by $22 562,023.

"Respectfully,
[Signed] "J. G CARLISLE,
"Secretary."

The reading of the letter was closely followed by the senate. Mr. McPherson, democrat, New Jersey, went to the clerk's desk to personally inspect it. Then Mr. Aldrich, republican, Rhode Island, sent for it and a group of republican senators gathered about him and read it over his shoulder.

Mr. Gorman smiled significantly at the secretary's direct and positive estimate of the ampleness of revenues.

Mr. Vilas, democrat, Wisconsin, chairman of the judiciary committee, favorably reported the bill retiring Mr. Justice Howell Jackson from the United States supreme court bench and asked an immediate consideration of the measure. Mr. Albrich, still holding Secretary Carlisle's letter, suggested that there were some other things which would prevent the full consideration of this measure and it accordingly went over.

THE DEAR WOMEN.

The Close of the National Suffrage Association.

ATLANTA, Ga, Feb 4.—The concluding exercises of the National Woman's Suffrage convention took place yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a grand mass meeting and religious service at the opera house. The auditorium was packed to overflowing and hundreds were turned from the doors. It was by far the largest gathering of the convention and gave the delegates great encouragement. A special program of music was rendered and Rev Anna Howard Shaw delivered an eloquent sermon

Miss Susan B. Anthony was re-elected president of the association for the ensuing year. The other officers elected were Rev. Anna Shaw, of Philadelphia, vice president; Miss Rachel Foster Avery, of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary; Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, of Boston, Mass, recording secretary; Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Warren, Ohio, treasurer, and Mrs. Carrie L. Chapman-Catt, chairman of the committee on organization.

MISSING CHICORA.

Efforts Being Made to Find the Lost Vessel.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—The Dunham Towing company today sent a tug to South Chicago with instructions to make every effort to reach the point where the supposed hull of the missing Chicora was seen yesterday. Owing to the heavy ice it was thought that the chances for the tug reaching its destination were slight and the general opinion among marine men was that the object seen in the ice is not the Chicora's hull but a pile of debris.

Died Suddenly.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 4—Daniel Shelby, manager of the music hall in this city, died suddenly of heart disease this morning, aged fifty-seven years. He was well known in the theatrical profession, having managed houses in New York, Buffalo and Chicago During his residence in Buffalo he was an intimate friend of Grover Cleveland A wife and son survive him Mrs. Shelby, his wife is now singing with an opera company. Shelby's home was in New York city.

CHARGES PREFERRED

Against Superintendent Johnson by Senator Boyd.

Too Many Democrats, Too Many Relatives, and Cruelty to Children are the Charges.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb 4—Senator Boyd, of the committee on benevolent institutions, has reported charges made against Alexander Johnson, the superintendent of the School for Feeble Minded Youths at Fort Wayne. Body claims that Johnson has been partisan in his management of the institution, employing more democrats than republicans, and is guilty of cruelty and employing relatives. Johnson denies the charges and will have a hearing

A SENTINEL representative called up Mr. Johnson by telephone and asked him if he had more democrats than republicans among his employes. He answered

"I never inquire about the politics of my employes and I do not know the political complexion of the institution We employ people for their worth and not their politics."

We did not ask Mr. Johnson concerning the other charges, but we know that his wife and brother-in-law are both employes at the institution and were employed by the authority of the board of trustees They are both competent and active in the discharge of their duties The other charges in reference to cruelty are without foundation.

Superintendent Johnson is a good official and will compare favorably with the superintendent of any institution in the state of Indiana He is strictly honest, upright and moral in his character, an unusually hard worker, and a man strictly devoted to the best interests of the institution The state of Indiana will go a long way before they get a better superintendent than Mr. Johnson.

EDITORS GIVE PREFERENCES.

Republicans Name Their Favorites for the Presidential Nomination.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4—The Commercial Gazette prints the presidential preferences of republican editors from every state and territory in the union Vermont has a kindly feeling for Senator Redfield Proctor, who was secretary of war in Harrison's cabinet. Senator Chandeler's New Hampshire paper has a leaning toward Senator Frye, of Maine. Utah wants silver and Senator Don Cameron. There is here and there a touch of "favorite son," but the great majority line up for some of the "Big Four" brought so prominently to the front last week—McKinley, Harrison, Reed or Allison, in the order named.

WITH A ROPE.

A Milwaukee Man Hangs Himself During His Wife's Absence.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 4—When Mrs William Black returned from church yesterday morning she found her husband hanging dead from a hook in the wall. The couple lived at 191 Third street. Black was a tailor by trade and seventy-two years of age, For a few weeks past he has suffered intense agony from an ulcerated tooth. It is supposed the pain became so great that he took his life to escape from suffering

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.

Died of Paroxysms After Imagining She Heard Burglars.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind, Feb 4—Dora Dold, aged forty-two, wife of Elias Dold, residing at Sellersburg, died yesterday of fright At midnight Mrs. Dold awoke and thought she heard burglars ransacking the premises. This proved purely imaginary, but the thought of thieves so terrorized her nervous constitution that she died in paroxysms three hours later.

Earthquakes Frequent.

OAXACA, Mexico, Feb 4—The severe earthquake shocks which have been felt in the district of Tuxetepec, this state almost daily for the past four weeks are becoming more frequent and severe. Almost every house in the town of Tuxtepec is in ruins and the damage will amount to several thousands of dollars. The district is very mountainous and there is smoke pouring from the crater of an extinct volcano near the town, which indicates that the earthquake shocks are caused by the threatened volcanic erruption.

The Coffee Industry.

COBIA, Mexico, Feb 4—A party of fifteen prominent bankers and business men of Kansas City and Topeka have arrived here for the purpose of investigating the coffee industry. They will go the isthmus of Tehuantepec, where they will make extensive purchases of lands adapted to coffee culture. Their investigation has convinced them that at the present low price of silver there is great profit in the raising of coffee, as the product is sold in foreign markets for gold while it is raised on a silver basis.

FRIGHTFUL PLUNGE

A Trolley Car Dives Into the Kinnickinic,

Carrying the Motorman and Two Women to Their Death—The Scene Graphically Described.

MILWAUKEE Wis, Feb 4—A trolly car on the Russell avenue and Holton street line ran through an open draw of Kinnickinic bridge at 8.20 o'clock this morning. The car struck endwise on the ice, through which it plunged into the water The motorman was drowned and at least two passengers are reported to have lost their lives The ice broke the windows of the car, which stood on end and only partially filled with water.

The first body recovered was that of a woman, who was taken out a few minutes after the accident The confusion was such that nobody could tell an hour after the catastrophe how many people had lost their lives, but it is believed that at least six, besides the motorman, are dead. There were ten or twelve people in the car, the exact number being unknown Six were taken out alive, and the others are all dead. Those rescued were: W. P Severy, 729 Walnut street, hand cut; A Oertel, 760 Island avenue, G W Chase, 727 Fourth street, H. Keuhn, 307 Reed street; R B Rand, 510 Grove-street and Ella Walcholse, 1118 Eleventh street, hurt about the shoulder. The dead are

Miss Ehlman, a kindergarten teacher in the Twelfth district primary school, and a daughter of Professor Ehlman, director of music in the public schools

John Kennedy, motorman of car No. 145

Miss Schmidtkuntz, of the National Knitting mills.

The car was in charge of Conductor Peterson. The bridge had been opened to permit the passage of the fire boat Foley, which was breaking the ice in the Kinnickinic The members of the Foley's crew rendered valuable assistance in rescuing those who were saved and in recovering the bodies of the victims.

THE PARTICULARS OF THE ACCIDENT.

Russell avenue and Holton street car, No. 145, southbound was speeding up Kinnickinic avenue at about half past 8 o'clock this morning with twelve passengers aboard The Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing, situated about two-thirds of a block north of the Kinnickinic bridge, was made on schedule time. At the conductor's signal to come ahead, Motorman John Kennedy applied his power and the car started onward. Rolling along at a fair speed, not more than probably ten or twelve feet from the bridge, Conductor Peterson, who is said to have been in service only a short time, rang the bell to stop.

Instantly the passengers became alive to the fact that there was something out of the ordinary, and looking out saw the open bridge almost at hand and no brakes had yet been applied. At the sound of the bell the motorman grasped the brake crank and twisted it with might and main. But the wheels slipped, there was no time to reach for sand, and to the horror of the helpless passengers they realized that no power on earth could prevent them from plunging headlong into the icy waters.

Wild shrieks from the four women passengers, intermingled with the breathless gasps of the pale faced men. There was no time to plan or to say a word.

The rear door was all the means of escape that was offered. The men on the rear end, two or three, including the conductor, had already jumped. William P. Severy was the first to reach the door. He had occupied the front seat at the window and had seen the bridge open shortly after the railroad had been passed. He needed not the warning bell of the conductor to notify him of the danger. He was the first to bound forward and reached the handle of the rear door. But he never opened it. The instant he touched it the forward end went down and he together with the terror stricken passengers who were crowded behind him were thrown to the front end.

A heavy crash followed as the ice was struck and the car gradually sank midway into the water. The fire was instantly quenched and the passengers entirely submerged. The two ladies who met their death must have been at the very bottom and were instantly suffocated, as their bodies bear no signs of bruises. One woman, probably Ella Wachholze, clung desperately to Edward Hoffman as he continued to raise himself out of the water He could lend no assistance, however, as his strength was almost gone. But the strong arm of a rescuer was near at hand and the helpless woman was safely borne above the water and soon placed in a place of refuge.

Annie Alb was rescued in a similar way. Their preservation is due to the fact they chanced to be the farthest away from the rear door in the first attempt to escape. Miss Schmidtkuntz's body was the first recovered. Afterwards the body of Miss Ehlman and the motorman were taken from the car. Two attempts were made to lift the car but the chains broke each time. Police used grappling hooks on the wrecked car without effect It is now thought that the list of dead will be limited to the three names given.

JUDGE GAYNOR.

No Decision Today In the Mandamus Case.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 4—Judge Gaynor this morning gave out word to the newspaper men that he will not render any decision today on the application for an order to show cause why a peremptory writ of mandamus should not be issued to compel the Atlantic Avenue Railroad company to operate its lines of cars This is the writ which was applied for by James O'Connell on Friday last

GOT ALL THE MONEY.

Masked Men Burglarize a Bank at Milan, Ohio.

Safe Blown Open and, After Helping Themselves, the Robbers Escape in Wagons.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 4—Lockwood's bank, at Milan, Erie county, was entered by five masked burglars at 4 o'clock this morning, the safe blown open and robbed of what money it contained. The men were seen as they were escaping in a wagon, headed for Sandusky. A lively exchange of shots took place between Charles Stoddard and the gang, but they got away safely.

It has been discovered that the robbers secured about $30 000. As soon as the robbery was discovered a posse of men was hurriedly organized and soon followed in pursuit. At the same time notices were sent by wire in all directions and the news spread around them so securely that escape was well nigh impossible At Sandusky two men were caught, while it is only a question of a few hours before the remaining three will find themselves in the toils.

The bank is a wealthy concern which fact was doubtless known by the men. The only error in their well laid plans was the heavy explosion which started the alarm. It is quite probable that they had not prepared it with sufficient caution and by that one error their plans were upset and themselves in hourly danger of capture.

MOHICAN NOT LOST.

She Reached St. Michaels in Safety, January 13.

Dr. Herring and His Bride Create a Sensation by Taking a Bridal Tour in a Yacht.

LONDON, Feb 4—The mysterious schooner yacht Mohican, from New York, is not lost as reported in the United States, unless she has met with disaster since January 13, for on that date she arrived at St Michaels, Azores Land.

NEW YORK Feb. 4—The Mohican sailed from New York in the latter part of November with Dr. W. Conyers Herring, his bride of a few days, and a young girl, Letitia Thompson, on board. According to general report, Miss Thompson is said to have run away from home in order to take this cruise Dr. Herring is the son of Wm Herring, the promoter of the Georgia Central He purchased the Mohican from Geo. Fitzgerald & Co., of Boston. The first wife of Dr. Herring was an English lady, with whom he lived in London for several years

In England the most intimate friend of Dr. Herring was Montague Eder, who was the doctor's classmate at Oxford, and who is said to be his partner in the Mohican venture. When Dr Herring returned to New York with his wife Eder accompanied them. Dr and Mrs. Herring disagreed and Mrs. Herring returned to England, to which country she was followed by Mr. Eder. Dr. Herring began divorce proceedings early in 1894, but his wife and Mr. Eder, who came back to this country, succeeded in inducing the doctor to refrain from pushing the action. Some time afterwards Mrs. Herring began a suit against her husband, and in November last she was granted an absolute divorce, with the privilege of marrying again. This privilege was denied the doctor

However, Dr. Herring and Miss Mable Harris, of Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, were married in Jersey City on November 17, last They returned to New York and resided there while the Mohican was being prepared for her voyage. Wishing to secure a companion for Mrs. Herring, No 2, the doctor advertised for one and Letitia Thompson applied for the place, pleading she was ill treated at home, and she was engaged. But Mrs. Thompson, the girl's mother, refused to let the girl go and visiting the yacht one day, while the family was away, compelled Letitia to go ashore; but while walking up Vessey street the girl ran away and made her escape.

Mr. Eder, it appears in the meantime had married Mrs Herring No. 1 and had returned to England after, as reported, drawing up co-partnership papers with Dr. Herring, which resulted in the purchase and fitting out of the Mohican for a long voyage It is said that it was intended to arm the Mohican with two gattling guns, but whether this was done or not is not known. The destination of the Mohican was said to be Plymouth, England, where Mr Eder and his wife, formerly Mrs. Herring No. 1, were to join the party. The first stopping place was announced to be Fayall, Azore Islands, and the eventual destination of the Mohican was said to be the South Pacific, where her two owners were to go into pearl fishing on a large scale.

There were five accessions to the Westminster church yesterday.

NORTON WAS MURDERED

His Body Found in the Cabin of a Ship.

The Dead Man's Companions, Whoever They Were, Have Silently and Mysteriously Disappeared.

NEW HAVEN, Conn, Feb 4—A private letter to Alderman D A. Blakslee from his brother, Clarence, who is at their winter home in Rock Ledge, Fla, gives the particulars of the supposed murder of William Norton, of Illinois, who left Providence, R I, last November for the south Norton was in Providence to coach the Brown University foot ball team About a month ago he hired a sloop at Titusville, Fla, and sailed down the Indian river as far as Sebastian. On the return trip the sloop put in at Rock Ledge on Friday, January 18, and Mrs C. W. Blakslee, mother of the writer, saw two men on board. The sloop lay to for several days with no signs of life on board and this caused Clarence Blakslee, on Monday, January 28, to investigate. He found in the cabin the putrid body of a man, blackened, and the head swollen terribly. No trace of the other man was found. A midnight inquest was held on the river bank, the sheriff having to cut away the cabin in order to take out the body, which had swollen too large for the passage through the door. Foul play is suspected, but no definite proof of it has been obtained. The body is believed to be that of Norton

SHOT AT HIM.

Strikers Try to Kill the Boss of a Glass Factory.

Manager Humphreys and His Nine Employes Arrested for Assembling With Winchesters.

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio, Feb 4—As Alex Humphrey, manager of the Buckeye Glass company, was entering the works this morning, three shots were fired at him by a crowd of four union men who had followed him. None of the shots took effect and the men escaped. There is a strike on at the works. Manager Humphrey and nine employes were arrested today, charged by an officer of the Glass Workers union with unlawfully assembling with loaded Winchesters and preventing citizens from speaking with non union men who arrived on the train to go to work in the mill. All furnished bonds

TURKISH OUTRAGES.

English Newspapers Severely Criticize the Sultan.

LONDON, Feb. 4—The letter of the correspondent of the Associated Press, who is now in Armenia, giving the first direct and authentic facts regarding the reported Turkish atrocities in Armenia, was published here this morning after having appeared exclusively in all the newspapers of the Associated Press yesterday, Sunday. It is attracting much attention in England as it is admitted to be the first impartial account of the troubles concerning which so much has been said and written by the Armenians and by the Turks.

The Daily Telegraph, for instance, says "The story is enough to make civilization and humanity despair. Both sides appear to be guilty of facts against every canon of honesty, morality and civilization."

The Daily News, in its comments on the same subject remarks: "Even if the accusations are fully proved the bulk of the Armenians have been extremely patient under hideous cruelty."

The St. James Gazette says "England had better take notice that there are undoubtedly two sides to the question."

DEFY THE POPE'S ORDER.

Fraternity Men at Bucyrus Decline to Abandon Their Lodges.

BUCYRUS, Ohio, Feb. 4.—A large number of influential members of Holy Trinity Catholic church have refused to accept the conditions of the recent papal mandate, and will remain loyal to their lodges. The president of the church council is a member of the Knights of Pythias, and when the time came to reorganize the council yesterday refused to accept re election He will sacrifice his membership in the church rather than the lodge. A dozen leading Catholics refuse to accept the orders from the pope, considering it un-American and in the nature of oppression. The Catholic members of the Odd Fellows are equally strong in their determination to disregard the orders of the pope, and the church here will be greatly affected by the stand these men have taken.

TREASURER SHOULD PAY.

Wyoming Legislative Committee Examines the Shortage in State Funds.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb 4—The report of the joint committee to examine the books of the state auditor and treasurer was made Saturday. The report shows a shortage of $56,454.70 in the treasurer's office. This is the amount lost by Treasurer Gramm by the failure of the Kent bank. The report holds that Otto Gramm and his bondsmen are liable for the above amount, and recommends that the proper authorities proceed to collect

Formed a Syndicate.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 4—The facts have just leaked out about a secret meeting at the hotel Aragon in this city Thursday for the purpose of forming a syndicate. The Georgia-Alabama syndicate will co-operate with those already virtually in existence in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi and the result will be the formation of a trust which will control the southern pine timber market The mills represented include the vast majority of the southern plants turning out long leaf pine

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Pantalion Zuber Expires Without a Moments Warning

She Was An Early Pioneer Resident—Demise of Mrs. Anna Mary Jones, of Bloomingdale.

Last night, at her home in Marion township, occurred the death from asthma of Mrs. Pantalion Zuber, one of the oldest and best known German pioneer residents of Allen county. She had appeared as usual during the day, but at 10 o'clock suddenly expired surrounded by other members of the family. She was seventy-eight years of age and has lived in Allen county for some forty years past She leaves four grown daughters and three sons, all of whom reside in this county The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church at Hesse Castle.

JONES

Mrs. Anna May Jones, of No 112 Wells street, died this morning at her home, aged forty-seven, of congestion of the lungs. Deceased was born in England and leaves a husband and nine children. The father is employed in the shoe department at the Fruit House Funeral will be held Thursday afternoon.

DOBILINSKI

"Mrs Margurite Dobilinski, mother of Charles Dobilinski, of this city, died at her residence, near Hagerstown, Maryland, on Wednesday last, of pneumonia, after a few days illness, in the sixty fourth year of her age The remains were brought to this city on Monday morning last and interred in Mt. Hope cemetery. The deceased was a resident of our city several years ago. Mrs Dobilinski had many friends here and was a social and a grand, noble woman." The foregoing, from the Lambertville, N. J, Beacon, will be of sad interest to many of the older residents of Fort Wayne, as the Dobilinski family formerly resided here. Mr Louis Dobilinski erected a paper mill and was the first manufacturer of paper.

WAITS IN JAIL.

John Sing Lee Bound Over to Court for Larceny.

An Old Man Struck Over the Head With a Cane. Files an Affidavit Against His Assailant.

John Sing Lee, the Chinese laundryman, who is charged with stealing clothing from Levi Brothers, had a preliminary hearing before Justice Harry France and was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $300 on the charge of larceny. In default of bail he was sent to jail. The hearing of his case will occur in the circuit court next week.

John Buschett, an old man with an ugly wound on his head and blood all over one side of his face, appeared in the court of Justice Charles Hays this afternoon and made affidavit that he had been assaulted by Charles Darroch, on Columbia street. He said Darroch had struck him over the head with a cane. Justice Hays issued a warrant for Darroch's arrest and placed it in the hands of the constable.

The case of Daniel W. Souder against N R Leonard, C. E Everett and E V. Harris for libel has been dismissed in the circuit court upon the motion of the plaintiff's attorneys

The circuit and superior courts convened this morning, but no business of importance was transacted. The grand jury will meet next Monday.

Justice France has sent George Michaels to jail for fifteen days on the charge of vagrancy

KILLED IN A MINE.

While Fighting a Fire an Explosion Occurred

Wrecking the Galleries and Entombing the Miners—Thirty Lives are Lost.

PARIS, Feb. 4—An explosion of fire damp is reported from Mont Ceau Les Mines, department of Saone Et Loire Thirty persons are believed to have been killed in the mine where the explosion took place. The fire broke out in the St. Eugenie pit and while the miners were fighting this fire an explosion occurred which wrecked the galleries and entombed the miners. The rescue party, thus far, has recovered twenty one bodies and has removed from the ruins eight terribly injured miners

ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF FRAUD.

Statesmen Charge That the Congressional Seat Was Bought.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—Lawyer Goldwater, chairman of Good Government Club X, acting for Congressman Timothy J. Campbell, has served notice of contest on Congressman-elect Harry Miner, charging that Miner won his election through the use of money and that he failed to file an itemized account of his election expenses in the county clerk's office, as required by law. Miner served his answer Saturday evening. He denies the accusations and alleges that the oriental statesman used money, and he failed to make a true account of expenditures to the county clerk. Miner claims his election by 600 majority.

TRULY, SILVER TONGUED

Col. George W. Bain's Stirring Talk on Temperance.

He Thinks the Evil of Strong Drink Causes More Hard Times Than Either Silver or Tariff.

Sixty minutes seemed as five to those who yesterday afternoon, at the Baptist Tabernacle, listened to Col George W. Bain deliver his lecture, "Drink, the Enemy of the Laboring Man and Business"

Col Bain was introduced to the large audience by Pastor Northrop and began his discourse by saying that for the past two years this country has been suffering from a serious attack of hard times. Some said it was the tariff—some, the monetary question The colonel said he had not come to Fort Wayne to argue either of these two questions—if congress would adjourn and go home, or do something while they are in session, he thought both these issues might be adjusted That the tariff and silver question were largely a matter of geography, he illustrated by saying that not long since he was in southern Texas. The air was warm and balmy and children were bare footed He took a train for northern Maine and found, upon his arrival there, that the thermometer was 30 degrees below zero and the snow five feet deep Then he realized that he wanted protection—from the weather.

An eminent statesman writing recently in the New York Mail and Express had said that what troubled this country was too much silver and too much tariff "And he was wrong," said Colonel Bain. "It is too much extravagence and too much whisky. It is true we are suffering from money being withdrawn from circulation and articles stored in the warehouses waiting for purchasers But a country with such vast resources and such enterprising and intelligent people is not suffering from over production. We had a period of good times, but we couldn't stand the prosperity. We rushed our surplus cash into worthless lots in boom towns and bought thousands of things we could never pay for. Then the women got to buying dry goods and the men wet goods. But the men outstripped the women in the race and last year expended the enormous sum of $160,000,000 for liquor and tobacco A dead loss. And what did they get in return—bleared eyes, paulsied hands, broken constitutions, ragged wives and children, heaven lost and at last, a drunkard's grave.

"Drink, it will thus be seen, is a greater curse to the laboring men than all else. It robs him first of his proportion of labor by paralizing trade and then it robs him of his strength and ability to perform labor when it is offered There are two classes of laboring men, the wise and the otherwise. Of this latter class may be mentioned the throng of 20,000 laboring men who marched through the streets of Chicago with banners upon which were inscribed, 'Our Children Cry for Bread,' and then went to a picnic and drank 14 000 kegs of beer.

"Talk about strikes and boycotts Why in sixty days time the amount spent for liquor alone in this country would buy the Pulman car works entire and in 120 days Pulman's vast fortune could be more than duplicated.

"I am for total prohibition," said Col Bain. "High license is a compact with the devil. You can never settle the question until you settle it right Slavery was an awful curse to this nation and it was never settled until it was settled right. Henry Clay's compromise was thought to settle the question but from away up in the New England states there came, in thundering tones, the voice of Wm. Lloyd Garrison: 'The question is not settled for it is not settled right.'

"And so it is with the liquor traffic, it must be settled right to be settled for good. What ails the country now is the fact that too many good men are indifferent as to the question of temperance. They believe drink is a curse but they do not put their shoulders to the wheel and push We must have an awakening in all the churches and all along the line of christian work to overcome this awful monster—this deamon of strong drink"

Last evening, at the First Presbyterian church, Colonel Bain delivered another brilliant lecture, entitled: "The Safe Side of Life for Young Men." There was a large attendance.

BETHANY'S GROWTH.

The Young Church Has a Large Addition in Membership.

Yesterday was a red letter day at the Bethany Presbyterian church, thirty three new names having been added to the membership roll of this young and growing congregation The morning sermon was preached by Rev. Lloyd and was a forcible discourse. In the evening the services were under the charge of the men's league and the following program was carried out:

A Cutting Affair Which Came Near Terminating With Serious Consequences—Other News.

Saturday night, at the Y M C. A building, Officer Tanner arrested a vagrant who said his name was J. M Lewis, and who created no little amusement at police court this morning. In the absence of Deputy Prosecutor Charles Ryan, Attorney J. M. Robinson acted as state's attorney and gave the prisoner a very close cross examination. Lewis has been about the city for the past few days imposing on charitable people. Dr. Moffat and a number of other ministers were taken in by the fellow, who had succeeded in getting a pass to Van Wert from the township trustee. When Lewis was searched at the station a pocket diary was found upon him, giving a minute account of his adventures and success in "working" the towns. Every article which had been given him was set down with the utmost fidelity. When sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs or go to jail the prisoner walked up to the mayor's desk, and asking for his diary, tore it to a hundred pieces. He went to jail.

The other drunks were John Kelly, Walter Burns, Jim Wilson and Charles Johnson. All went to jail in default of $1 and costs each

A CUTTING AFFRAY

A cutting affair occurred in the Globe restaurant, on Calhoun street, early yesterday morning in which William Bushor, a waiter, cut Charles Lotz The quarrel started over a newsboy. Lotz went into the Globe shortly after 6 o'clock and asked for whisky. He was refused and began to quarrel with a newsboy who was eating his breakfast, and finally slapped the little fellow Bushor took up the quarrel and one word brought on another until the waiter, loosing all control of himself, grabbed up a big butcher knife and went for Lotz, who, seeing murder in his antagonist's eye, turned to get away. Bushor, however, began hacking away at the fellow, striking him several times in the back and cutting his overcoat almost to pieces. Two of the thrusts entered the flesh. After he was out Lotz walked to his brother's restaurant at 21 Calhoun street. He was bleeding terribly when he reached the place Officer Hardendorf had just came on duty, and one of the newsboys at the corner of Main and Calhoun streets informed him of the affair. The officer went to the Queen restaurant, and when he saw that Lotz was bleeding so badly he called Dr. Niswonger and then went to the Globe and arrested Bushor, who was taken to the police station. The wounded man was taken to the Hope hospital where Drs Schrader and Niswonger found the injured man not seriously cut. A few stitches soon fixed the wounds and today Lotz was able to be out. Bushor's friends, as soon as they learned of the affair, began to arrange for his release. Mayor Oakley made an investigation and when he was informed by Dr. Schrader that there was no danger of fatal results he released the young man on a $300 bond, signed by Mr. Bailey, a relative.

This morning Bushor was up before Mayor Oakley on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The case was continued until Wednesday.

A MEAN TRICK.

Saturday night some evil minded person played a mean trick on Humane Agent Schlaudroff by visiting his hen roost and stealing a third of all the fowls therein. Mr. Schlaudroff, not wishing to be the cause of further sinning upon the part of some chicken-hungry west sider at once gave the rest of the fowls away. He only had three to begin with.

A "HARE" HUNT.

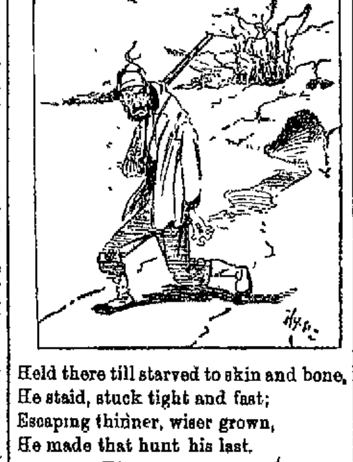

A city sport, well fed and fat,
Had thought bear hunting fun;
Until, by chance, he struck one that
Soon got him on the run.

When, flying fast and out of breath,
A small cave he espied;
"To save me from a dreathful death'
I'll crawl in there!" he cried.

The bear soon left. He blessed his luck,
And tried then to crawl out;
Alas! his size had got him stuck—
He could not even shout.

Held there till starved to skin and bone,
He staid, stuck tight and fast;
Escaping thinner, wiser grown,
He made that hunt his last.

NICKEL PLATE WRECK

Twelve Cars in the Ditch at Leipsic, Ohio.

Machinist Charlie Meyer Surprised by His Friends—Shop and Office Gossip.

Eastbound freight train No. 44, on the Nickel Plate, met with a serious accident near West Leipsic, Ohio, at 9 o'clock last night. The train was behind time and was bowling along at a lively rate, when it encountered a broken rail and twelve cars left the track and piled up in the ditch. The tracks were completely blockaded and traffic was almost entirely suspended for several hours. The wreck crews from Fort Wayne, Bellevue and Stony Island were ordered out and are still at the scene picking up the wreckage. The unfortunate train was in charge of Conductor Harper.

MINOR MENTION.

Thomas Beals, of the Pittsburg round house, is sick and off duty.

Machinist William Reidt, of the Bass works, is quite sick with lung fever.

H. S. Barnerd left today for Chicago, where he expects to live in the future.

G. Leischel, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is off duty on account of sickness.

Pittsburg engines 305, 198 and 142 were taken into the back shop for repairs this morning.

Nickel Plate Engineer Bert Baughman is off duty on account of the serious illness of his son.

Engineer Merriet and Fireman Staples, of the Nickel Plate, are taking a few days' recreation.

Machinist Bob Taylor, of the Bass works, has been off duty on account of sickness for the past week.

Nickel Plate Engineer Crosby and Fireman Wells are enjoying a few days' rest after a long and steady run.

C. A. Bowman and O. E. Lehneke, Nickel Plate brakemen, who were laying off a few days, resumed work this morning.

A meeting of the eastern lines interested in the summer tourist business has been called for next Thursday at Chicago.

James Short, the well known Nickel Plate engineer, is suffering with a badly inflammed eye, due to a cinder. He is off duty for treatment.

Grover Miller has been promoted from a freight to a passenger fireman and given a run with Engineer Moore on the Fourth district.

No 78, a freight train on the Pittsburg, was stalled at Wanatah this morning, the engine being completely frozen up.

James Hartnett, yard foreman of the Wabash, is off duty on account of sickness.

John Bitticoffer, of the electric light works, is visiting friends in Kendallville.

John Seidel has gone to Hamilton, Ohio, to put up a gas plant for the Kerr Murray works.

A L Blake, machinist at the Pittsburg shops, has been transferred from the back shop to the round house.

James Lonagan, an engineer on the west end of the Wabash road, Andrews to Tipton, is visiting his father in this city.

Yesterday a change in the running time of freight trains on the Wabash road went into effect. Passenger trains were not affected.

The Haskel & Barker car works, Michigan City, have resumed operations in their wheel foundry with about seventy-five men.

Tinsmith C. Wyburn, who was at Maples last week attending the funeral of his father, resumed his duties in the Pittsburg shops this morning.

There were twenty-five freight trains in and out of this city over the Pittsburg yesterday. Business is much better than it was a few weeks ago.

Frank Kehler has resigned his position with the Fort Wayne Furniture works and will probably return to his old vocation, that of railroading.

Engineer William Morris, who has been running a freight train for some years on the Nickel Plate, has been promoted to the passenger service.

Michael Ehrman, machinist at the Bass works, had an eye severely injured by a chip of steel Saturday. He was able to report for duty this morning.

John Reno, the founder of train robbing, is dead. In 1856 the first express robbery in this country was committed by John and his brothers near Rockford, Ind.

Machinist William Harkenrider has returned from Sheldon, Ind., where he was visiting his mother, who is ill. The lady is somewhat improved, but is still very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Weyer and children left Saturday for Delphos, Ohio, where they will spend a week with relatives. Mr. Weyer is a tinsmith employed at the Pittsburg shops.

Senator McLean's bill, recently introduced in the state senate, aims to make blacklisting impossible with railway officials. It is the outgrowth of the American Railway union strike.

The new shops of the Baltimore and Ohio and the yards to be built at Cumberland, Md, will be the most extensive in the country. The buildings alone will cover 650,000 square feet.

C. S. Shaw and G. Stanley are sick and L. F. Gieb is taking a vacation. All are Nickel Plate brakemen. Mr. Stanley had only made one trip over the road after being sick three weeks.

Ed. Bevington was killed in the freight yards at Cincinnati last Saturday. He used to be a trainman on the Grand Rapids and is known to most all the employes of that line in this city.

J. C. Stewart, who had a hand pinched between the drawbars at Leipsic, three weeks ago, went out on his run today for the first time since the accident. He is a Nickel Plate brakeman.

Blacksmith J. Q Lysle, of the Bass works, who was unable to work the latter part of last week on account of the serious condition of his wife, reported for duty this morning. Mrs. Lysle is better.

Legislatures of several eastern states will this winter be asked to pass laws empowering trolley wires to haul freight. If such laws are passed it will cripple any road which has to meet the competition.

Henry Zauner, chief engineer at the power station on Spy Run avenue, and his bride arrived in the city Saturday evening, and for awhile will make their home with Mr. Zauner's parents, on Force street.

Nickel Plate engine 175, which for some time was hauling one of the passenger trains, will hereafter haul through freight between Fort Wayne and Bellevue, with Engineer Braithwait at the throttle.

George Petzinger is undoubtedly entitled to the championship of rabbit killers. Last week he shot seventy-three of the cotton tails, and distributed them among his friends in the Pittsburg shops and elsewhere.

Work was resumed in the shops of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City at Frankfort, Ind, last Friday. The shop fund allowed by the receiver became exhausted two weeks ago, which caused a temporary shut down.

By a new process recently devised by Superintendent McKenna, of the Great Northern old rails can be turned into new by putting them through a crucible, the cost being $8 per ton less than the cost of replacing with new rails.

General Freight Agent Russell, of the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western, is busily engaged in getting up a pro-rate freight sheet, which will give the rate to every important railway city in the country. At present the company's rate sheet only covers its own line.

The Nickel Plate had a big run of freight trains through this city yesterday and last night. The trains ran in from two to six sections. Last week's business on the line was an improvement over its predecessors and this week promises even better business.

Robert Jenkins, the express agent who robbed his employes at Richmond, Ind., plead guilty Saturday and was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, disfranchised for three years and fined $5. Nine indictments are still against him, but they will probably be dismissed.

It is estimated that 80 per cent. of the employes of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, shopmen, trainmen and sectionmen, belong to the Voluntary Relief association. It is optional with the men whether they become members of the relief. On the Baltimore and Ohio it is compulsory.

E. J. King resumed work in the laboratory at the electric light works this morning after an illness.

James Oliver, sr., and James Oliver, jr., of the Wabash shops, are off duty today on account of sickness.

G. F. Horstmeyer, carpenter in the Wabash shops, returned to work this morning after two weeks' illness.

If the plans now under contemplation materialize the Illinois Central will eventually have lines running into Louisville and Atlanta.

William Zeutemaster, a clerk at the electric light works, went to Richmond last Saturday to remain during the inventory, now in progress at the works.

George Graham, of 632 South Calhoun street, is entertaining his father, mother and sister, Miss Mary Graham, of Crestline. Yesterday there was a reunion of the Graham family at the above number and the affair was one to be long remembered by all those present.

The change from zero to moderate weather will be hailed with delight by the trainmen, who do not like extreme cold. In very cold weather it is dangerous to run trains faster than schedule time and when once behind it is impossible to make stations on time. Hence last week all trains were late in reaching this city.

Mrs. C. Sullivan, of 23 Taylor street, is suffering with a badly sprained foot. Saturday night she was decending the stairs to open the door for her son, Patrick, who is a flagman on the Pittsburg road and who had just came in from his run. When about half way down stairs Mrs. Sullivan slipped and fell to the bottom, sustaining the injury to her foot.

A special carrying a theatrical party, fifty-three in number, passed over the Wabash yesterday. The train made a good run from Toledo to this city, all things considered. It left that city at 12.15 and reached here at 2:20. The train consisted of a chair car, a coach and a baggage car. The party were en route to Indianapolis and were turned over to the Lake Erie and Western at Peru.

The Chicago, Paducah and Memphis railway ran its first passenger train over the line from Altamont, Ill., to Marion, Ill., yesterday. The road is 106 miles long. Among the important shipping points are St. Elmo, Kinmundy, Salem, Mount Vernon and Benton. The line traverses a fine farming and fruit section, and near the southern end taps one of the best coal belts in Illinois.

George Saul, president and general manager of the Ohio Southern, claims to have operated the road in 1894 on 47 per cent. of the gross earnings. Sixty-four per cent. is about the average cost of operating a road, and that must be under favorable circumstances. While operating the road on so small a per cent., he claims that the property has been fully maintained.

President Ingalls, of the Big Four, has given heads of departments and agents instructions to look after the industries located on the several divisions of the system, and wherever it is for the company's interest to notify Chief Engineer Kittredge and have switches laid. A switch 1,800 feet in length was ordered this week to be put in at New Castle, Ind., leading to a couple of manufactories being erected at that point.

F. Charles Meyer, the machinist in the Pittsburg shops, was forty-two years old yesterday, and in the afternoon he was the victim of a surprise party, about forty of his friends dropping in upon him and taking him completely unawares. At 7 o'clock the Schubert Mandolin club, which had been playing at the Randall, also called at the Meyer residence and added to the enjoyment of the occasion by rendering some excellent music. Although greatly surprised, Mr. and Mrs. Meyers were equal to the occasion, and during the evening set a delicious lunch for their guests. The affair was one of the most pleasant of the season and none enjoyed it more than did the genial host. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer live at No. 337 Force street.

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

His Accounts With His Mother.

On July 17, 1758, Washington opened an account, still extant, against Mrs. Mary Washington. There are many charges in this account, chiefly for money lent his mother annually or oftener to the close of her life. Beneath the last entry is written, "Settled."

"Yield Not to Misfortune."

I was afflicted with catarrh last autumn. During the month of October I could neither taste or smell and hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus Geo Shantz, Rahway, N. J.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill. Cream Balm is agreeable.

The highly talented composer and leader, also director of the famous Chautauqua School of Music, Prof. W. F. Sherwin, commends the World's Sweetest Songs in substance as follows: "They are a most charming collection for the home circle. The selections show fine taste and excellent judgment, while the variety is wonderful, stretching away from the simple Cradle Song to Haydn's Aria "With Verdure Clad.' They will bring genial sunshine and refinement to the home." tf

MOONSHINERS.

Nine of Them Captured and Thrown in Jail.

They Give the Internal Revenue Officers a Lively Fight Before They Surrender.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Kellar Anderson returned this morning from Hardin county, Tennessee, where he had a lively round with members of the Thomas gang of moonshiners. After a skirmish, in which a dozen shots were fired on either side without injury to the collector's party, nine moonshiners were captured and jailed at Selmer, the Hardin county seat. It is reported that one of the moonshiners, who escaped, was wounded.

JAPANESE REJECT

The Chinese Peace Commissioners Because of Defective Credentials.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Secretary Gresham has received a cablegram from Minister Dun at Tokio confirming the Associated Press report of the rejection of the Chinese peace commissioners by the Japanese on the ground that their credentials were defective in not granting them plenary powers.

No word whatever has been received up to 10:30 a. m. regarding the reported capture of a part of the force of the United States steamship Concord.

It appears, in fact, that the envoys did not even have a proposition from China to make to the Japanese but apparently came to find out in a general way what it was that the Japanese wanted as terms of peace.

THE DOG DID IT.

He Would Have Faced It Out, but Luck Was Against Him.

His forehead was full of puckers, and there was a general air of moroseness about him when his sister bounced into the room.

"Hello! What's up?"

"Oh, nothing! You don't happen to know of an easy, quiet way to kill a dog, do you?"

"Not Elsie's dear little pug?"

"Just him."

"Been chewing up your new hat again, or has she broken her promise in regard to kissing him?"

"Neither. I may as well tell you all about it myself, for she is sure to do it anyhow. Say, sis, do you think you could make it up?"

"I don't know. Maybe. The fact is I can't fix my mind on anything until I get that Persian lamb cape."

"Oh, you can have the cape if you want it."

"May I really? Oh, you dear, dear boy! I only wanted to have my mind at rest so I could devote it to your affairs."

He groaned: "Well, Elsie wanted me to take her to see the new pictures at the Art institute yesterday afternoon. I told her I was awfully sorry, but I really couldn't get off, that I was rushed to death at the office and wouldn't get away until 8 o'clock. She said it didn't really matter. We could go next week."

"H'm, that looks suspicious! Elsie isn't the girl to give in so easily unless"—

"Oh, that wasn't it. The truth is that Miss Edith is in town for a day or two. Of course that was all off long ago, but she used to be awfully fond of me, and when she said, with a little quiver in her voice, that she wanted just one afternoon like old times to remember I couldn't refuse her."

"M'hm! Did you happen to know that Miss Edith is in town buying her wedding garments?"

"The—I beg your pardon. The truth is, this new woman is entirely too smart. Some day the men will rebel, and—oh, pshaw, what is the use in talking? We went up to Lincoln park and then sauntered down the drive. It was growing a little dusk, and we were leaning on the sea wall looking at the lake—well, maybe she was leaning a little against my shoulder."

"Of course she was. I know Edith."

"Just then I heard a familiar bark that sent cold chills all through me. I looked up, and there was Elsie within ten feet of me leading that beast by his chain."

"Why didn't you tell me, silly, what you were going to do? I could have told you that she always gives Punch his airing there."

"I wish I had. Well, I was thunderstruck. Then, like a flash, it came over me that she had never seen Edith and how often she had scolded me for dressing just like everybody else. So I just decided to bluff it out."

"Oh, nonsense, you should have"—

"Too late now. She saw me, saw Edith, dropped the chain and cried out, 'Why, Harry, I thought you couldn't leave the office until 8 o'clock!' I looked perfectly blank, took off my hat and said in a very deep voice. 'I beg your pardon, madam, but there must be some mistake. My name in not Harry at all, but Albert—Albert Brownsmith.'"

"Well, I never! Did it work?"

"She turned first red, then white, wavered and began to stammer, 'I—I beg your pardon, I'— when up dashed that wretched beast. He recognized me at once and jumped all over me, barking and licking my hand. I tell you it was an awful moment."—Chicago Tribune.

Dr. Johnson and Geography.

A great deal of the low esteem in which geography has been held in England, a country which has produced more sailors, travelers and explorers than any other nation in Europe, must be attributed to ideas of our literary men on the subject.

Among others, no man openly expressed a more cynical disdain of travel and travelers than the great Dr. Johnson. "These books," quoth he, pointing to three large volumes of voyages to the South sea which had just come out, "who will read them? A man had better work his way before the mast than read them through. They will be eaten by rats and mice before they are read through. There can be little entertainment in such books. One set of savages is like another." And on another occasion, when poor Boswell told him that he had been in conversation with Captain Cook and had caught the enthusiasm of curiosity and adventure to such a degree that he felt a strong inclination to go with him, Johnson exclaimed, "Why, sir, a man does feel so till he considers how very little he can learn from such voyages."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Butter Flakes.

An Ohio dairy woman attributes the presence of white flakes in butter to the fact that when cream gets too warm the acid formed turned little particles of milk to curd. A current of air passing over the surface of the cream also dries it, and dried flakes are formed.

WHERE THE OLD THIRD DIED.

How a Regiment Gradually Succumbed to the Horrors of War.

A regiment of infantry 1,000 strong marching out of rendezvous in time of war will number 50 less within a month. Men fall sick, men are detailed, the cowards desert. Before it has seen its first battle its strength will have been reduced to 900 men. More men will be in hospital, others detailed, others go down on the rolls as 'missing' or "not accounted for." Brigades, regiments and companies waste away in a queer, strange manner, but the wasting can never be checked by any effort.

The old Third had its full 1,000 when we set out for the front. A month after reaching Washington we were 60 less. After Bull Run we numbered only 900. After the peninsula campaign we fell to 750. The killed counted scarce a dozen; the wounded only a score. The others could be accounted for by the hospital records, by details and desertions. Recruits came to us now and then, but the wastage was more than the gain. Now and then half a dozen old men returned from the hospital, and now and then an order was issued calling in all detailed men. The wastage was only checked for a day, however. From 1,000 we fell to 600. From 600 we filled up to 890, and from 890 we dropped back to 550. There were but few details, but fever, dysentery and the enemy's bullets killed off men faster than recruits came in.

The old Third was the flower of the brigade, and the other regiments were not jealous of a reputation earned by the fierce fighting. On two occasions all the others broke back and left the Third to stop the rush of a brigade. Three different times the salvation of a battery depended on its pluck, and it left its dead in rows and saved the guns. Recruits finally got afraid of the old Third. Its glory had been won by hard fighting. It was a regiment to be depended on and was therefore pushed into battle while other regiments were held in support. To belong to the Third meant fight, and fighting meant wounds or death. The recruit selected some other regiment in preference, and the bounty men tarried with us only a few hours. Wherever McClellan, Pope, McDowell, Burnside, Hooker or Meade went the old Third followed. It was at first Bull Run, at Williamsburg, at Yorktown in the seven days' fight which ended at Malvern Hill. It was at Antietam, at Fredericksburg, at Chancellorsville. When Grant moved on Lee in the Wilderness, the Third followed. It was no longer a regiment except in name. Its strength had dwindled down to 300 men, and orders had been issued that it must be consolidated with some other skeleton regiment. The forward movement took place before the orders could be carried out, and so the 300 went marching after their old and faded and battle scarred flag and swung their caps and cheered as they marched. Some officers looked on and said it was pitiful, but others gave cheer for cheer and said the old Third with its 300 would reap new laurels if given a show.

Down there in the dark and tangled forest Grant found Lee blocking his path to Richmond. The dogs of war grappled on the three or four narrow highways, around the few farmhouses, in the somber forest and in the dense thickets. Only here and there was an enemy to be seen, only here and there a spot where regiments faced each other and fought to hold the key to a position.

"By the right flank, march!" went the old Third before the battle was two hours old, and after moving half a mile we took up a position to cover the crossing of two highways. It was blind fighting, a battle of blindfolded men.

No one knew the strength of the enemy in front. We were simply ordered to fight him if he appeared and hold him till reenforcements came to us. We had not been in position ten minutes when we realized that annihilation awaited us if we did not retreat. Our colonel was ill in the hospital at Washington and the next in command at home with a wound. The major, thrice wounded and thrice returned to duty, stood on the open highway and looked along the short line made by the 300 and then at the advancing enemy. Their bullets were flying about him as he shouted at us:

"Men, they are going to consolidate the old Third with a regiment which has run away twice on the field of battle. Do you want this to come about?"

"No, no, no!" shouted 300 voices.

"You can prevent it if you will. This is the old Third's last fight. Let there be nothing to consolidate when it is over."

He was cheered again and again, and the men were cheering as they fired their first volley. Some of the war histories have given a few lines to it. One, two, three thousand men came down upon the 300. They came in front and on each flank, and they finally encircled the skeleton regiment. Surrender was called for, but refused. There was no breaking back, no running away. It was a fight to the death, and when the enemy finally triumphed only 22 of the 300 were left alive and unwounded to be carried off as prisoners. There was no longer any old Third. It was wiped out. No flag, no roster, no officers, no men. There were dead to be buried, but no living men to march on with Grant and lose their identity by consolidation.

In after days letters came down from the north for members of the Third. They were sent away to Washington marked, "Not found." Officers rode through the camps asking for the quarters of the Third. No one could tell them unless they applied at brigade headquarters. Then the answer was: "There is no Third. It died in the Wilderness." M. QUAD.

A Strange Story.

A young man, walking to the house of his brother, a yeoman, found the inn at a neighboring town very full. He shared the room of a merchant who was openly counting out his money. Having occasion to visit the garden, and also to borrow a knife, he accepted the loan of a knife from the merchant. On returning to his room he found the merchant gone. He went to bed, slept, rose early, walked to his brother's and was arrested in the afternoon for murdering the merchant. In his pocket was that tradesman's knife, and between blade and handle was a guinea of Mary and William. At the inn the merchant's empty bed was stained with blood, and, though the merchant's body was nowhere to be found, the young man was condemned for murder and hanged in chains on his brother's farm. Here a swain observed that the body moved. It was cut down, life was reanimated, and the youth fled to sea. Taken by Spaniards in South America, he rose to be warden of the jail, and while in enjoyment of that office recognized among some English prisoners the person for whose murder he had suffered.

The fact was that the merchant, while the youth was absent in the garden, discovered that he was bleeding freely from a vein which had been opened that day. He hurried to the surgeon in the dark, was seized by a press gang, served his Britannic majesty in a ship of war, was taken by the Spaniards and at last met in a jail of South America the very man who had been hanged for murdering him in England.—Saturday Review.

Not Singular, but Plural.

An amusing story is told of an Oxford undergraduate who was so cocksure that he had passed an examination he had recently been in for that he did not trouble to go down to the schools to get his testamu, but asked a friend to do so for him. When his friend got there, the cupboard was bare—there was no testamu for his self confident friend. He therefore brought word back to his friend that he had not satisfied the examiners, as there was no testamu for him. His friend, being very indignant, said that he would certainly write to the examiners and inform them that they must have ploughed him by a mistake. So he wrote the following letter:

"DEAR SIRS—I fear that in my recent examination you must have ploughed me by a mistake."

After a few days he received the following reply:

"DEAR SIR—The examiners present their compliments to Mr. —— and beg to state that he was ploughed by a great many mistakes."—Tit-Bits.

Nothing is more agreeable on retiring for the night than to take a bowl of hot broth, like oatmeal gruel or clam soup. It is a positive aid to nervous people and induces peaceful slumbers. This is especially the case on cold winter nights, when the stomach craves warmth as much as any other part of the body. Even a glass of hot milk is grateful to the palate on such occasions, but a light, well cooked gruel is better and during the cold months of winter should be the retiring food of every woman who feels, as many do, the need of food at night.

PIXLEY & CO.

BOILER CLEANSING COMPOUND.

The attention of owners of steam boilers is called to the old and reliable never-failing Boiler Cleansing Compound, Lord's Patent Improved, for the removing of old scales and preventing of new in steam boilers.

This Compound does not vaporize, and is in consequence being successfully used by Refineries, Breweries, Cracker Bakeries, Candy manufactories Hotels, Laundries, and many other establishments where pure live steam is required.

This Compound is substantially endorsed by U. S. Chemists, who have made chemical examinations, proclaiming it absolutely free from acids, agents so often resorted to in compounding so called boiler compounds, often used with fatal results to steam boilers and their connections.

The success of this Compound is the outcome of a lifetime study by a competent firm, and the great secret of their success is, that each and every package is prepared especially to suit the occasion.

This celebrated Compound is manufactured by Thos. C. Warloy & Co., (successors to S. W. Lord & Co.,) of Philadelphia, Pa.

BEAUTIFUL TEETH

FRAGRANT BREATH

ENDORSED BY SCIENCE

"After making a chemical analysis of DR. TARR'S CREME DENTIFRICE I find it an excellent preparation for cleansing the teeth. Nature, or an injurious character has been found. The fragrant part is an excellent tonic for the gums." M. DELAFONTAINE, Analytic Chemist, 61 Clark St., Chicago.

It cleanses, beautifies and saves the teeth. This dentifrice is put in tubes and is more desirable and economical than powder or liquid. It embodies, as far as Dentifrice can, the cleansing, and preserving elements that eleven year's experience at the dental chair has proved most valuable.

People wearing bridgework should use this Dentifrice, as it is an antiseptic and prophylactic preparation. For sale by all druggists. Take no other.

Is disposed of. Each day's sales surpass the other, and if we keep on with the increase there won't be much left of the stock when we are ready to talk about our new spring merchandise.

LOW PRICES

For GOOD, HONEST MERCHANDISE, is the magnet with which we are drawing this great volume of business. No sale where there has been such utter disregard of cost and values has ever taken place in this city before. We own this stock so cheap that we are prepared to do wonders in the way of low prices and still be able to make a small margin of profit

OUR DEAR COMPETITOR

One of the most wonderful instruments seen in this city is the plectrophone, a combination guitar, mandolin, harp and many other stringed instruments. Last evening it was given a test in the Randall dining hall before some 200 guests at dinner. The instrument was manipulated by Prof. C. M. Hands, representing the John Church Music company. The invention is a simple little attachment that is put on the piano, by means of which the tone and effects of a harp, mandolin, guitar, and other stringed instruments can be correctly reproduced. The arrangement consists of a metal bar, from which are pendant narrow leather strips with a small copper rivet on the end. The Shubert Mandolin quartet was also present and they and the plectrophone made the very air sing.

MRS. D. B. WELLS

Delivers a Sunday Afternoon Address at the R. R. Y. M. C. A.

The audience room of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon was crowded with ladies and gentlemen to hear the address of Mrs. D. B Wells, the principal of the Westminster Seminary of this city. She was introduced by General Secretary J. W. Burns, and from the beginning of her address until its close held her audience by the interesting and practical manner in which she handled her theme.

It afforded her pleasure, she said, to have the privilege of talking to a body of railroad men—the men to whom during the last five years, in her travels over the country, she was indebted for so many courtesies. As a body of employes they were performing an important and responsible mission in the world They often carry our lives in their hands, and to their caution and devotion to duty we were indebted for our safety in travel She honored the railroad engineer, fireman, conductor and brakeman, and there was, she said, no occupation in which cool heads and brave hearts were oftener found than among the railroad men of our country

The theme of Mrs Wells' address was "Personal weakness," discussing the subject from a religious standpoint Our strength in religious life, she said, comes from God We are dependent upon Him, and, relying upon Him He will give us what is best for us He is our Heavenly Father, and knows our wants better than we do ourselves

The meeting was one that was full of interest The singing, which was conducted by a chorus of twenty voices, was in the hands of ladies and gentlemen from the choirs of the Christian and United Brethren churches, led by H. A. Philley. The choister was Al Haddon

TALKS TO YOUNG MEN.

Dr. C. A Dorman at the City Y. M. C. A Yesterday Afternoon.

About 400 young men, from fifteen years of age up, were present at the City Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon to hear Dr. C A Dorman, of New Haven, Conn., in his talk to young men only. The meeting opened with singing and prayer and Dr. Dorman, from the start, won the sympathetic attention of all present by the Christian manner in which he handled his subject. He was listened to with the closest attention and the lessons which he gave must have sunk deep into the hearts of all present judging from the fervent manner in which all bowed their heads for prayer and benediction. Dr. Dorman will be here on next Sunday at the same place, delivering a similar lecture.

To be a hostess that at once enjoys entertaining and makes entertaining enjoyable, there must not be an overamount of worrying done The truest hospitality does not mean that which overburdens the recipient with a sense of his or her debt due for the honors heaped upon them. It does not harrass the existence of the visitor by excess zeal in the matter of excursions, fetes and other features of social welcome, but it calmly takes the outsider into the enjoyment of home happiness, and when something is especially prepared for the stranger's edification it is not done in such an aggressive fashion that it comes more like a sword thrust than a sign of genial friendship

The hostess who feels that a fit of nervous prostration is imminent as she waves farewell to her departing guests has much to learn in the true art of entertaining The considerate visitor makes his or her presence a joy that is sadly missed when the time of departure arrives. The true hostess causes that time to appear all too quickly, as her unobtrusive cordiality sets the visitor at ease, and a week or month passes by in true enjoyment that is not found in a treadmill of going, and which is far more acceptable to the sensible visitor—the sort of one most delightful to entertain

Iron Manufacturers Call for a Revision of Wages.

The Four Dollar Per Ton Puddling Rate Will Be Maintained No Longer.

Youngstown, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The Mahoning and Shenango Valley Iron Manufacturers' association, composed of the leading iron concerns in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania, has served notice upon the Amalgamated association that at the expiration of ninety days a revision of the wage scale will be expected. This means that the $4 per ton rate for puddling will be maintained no longer. Already a sixty days' notice to the Finishers' union, for the same purpose, has been given, and it looks as though before many weeks have rolled by that this section will be the scene of a memorable discussion over iron workers' wages The largest part of the membership of the two unions is in this city and surrounding towns Manufacturers claim that Pittsburg competitors are granted such concessions that they get all the business going.

DISPELS THE GLOOM.

The Revenues of the Nation Will Exceed the Expenses.

Letter of Secretary Carlisle, in Response to Resolution of Inquiry, Read in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Secretary Carlisle submitted a letter of information to the senate today which dissipates the gloomy forebodings as to a lack of revenue to carry on the government. It is in response to a resolution of inquiry adopted last week. The text of the letter is as follows:

"In reply to the senate resolution of January 25, 1895, that the secretary of the treasury be directed to inform the senate what is the estimated deficiency in the revenues of the government for the year and expenses between the 31st day of December, 1894, and the 31st day of December, 1895, and if the $153,337,579.99 cash balance in the treasury on the 31st day of December, 1894, will be sufficient to meet such deficiency, I have the honor to state that from estimates made upon the basis of laws now in force, it is believed that for the twelve months ending December 31, 1895, the revenues of the government from all sources will exceed ordinary expenditures by $22,362,023.

"Respectfully,
[Signed] "J. G. CARLISLE,
"Secretary."

The reading of the letter was closely followed by the senate. Mr. McPherson, democrat, New Jersey, went to the clerk's desk to personally inspect it. Then Mr. Aldrich, republican, Rhode Island, sent for it and a group of republican senators gathered about him and read it over his shoulder.

Mr. Gorman smiled significantly at the secretary's direct and positive estimate of the ampleness of revenues.

Mr. Vilas, democrat, Wisconsin, chairman of the judiciary committee, favorably reported the bill retiring Mr. Justice Howell Jackson from the United States supreme court bench and asked an immediate consideration of the measure. Mr. Aldrich, still holding Secretary Carlisle's letter, suggested that there were some other things which would prevent the full consideration of this measure and it accordingly went over.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Killed and Ten Badly Injured,

And the Engine Room and Ice House of East Carpenter & Son Blown to Pieces.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 4.—The boiler at East Carpenter & Sons' ice house, at Mashapang Pond, Elwood, exploded today, killing two men outright, injuring a third so that he died within an hour, and wounding ten others, some of them seriously. The names of the dead are as follows:

Patrick Hehir.
John Hehir.
Martin Dery.

The injured are:

Wm. Morton, office boy; back and right arm broken and internally injured; will die.
Porter Smith, injured about the head.
Thos. Casey, internally.
Chas. Bratton, slightly injured.
Thos. Nelson, the engineer, blown through the building and scalded, but not seriously injured.
Martin Ryan, injured about the head.
Henry Butler, colored, 37 Salem street, injured about the head.
Philip Lynch, right leg broken below the knee and injured about the head.
Michael Tierney, scalded.

THE DEAR WOMEN.

The Close of the National Suffrage Association.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—The concluding exercises of the National Woman's Suffrage convention took place yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a grand mass meeting and religious service at the opera house. The auditorium was packed to overflowing and hundreds were turned from the doors. It was by far the largest gathering of the convention and gave the delegates great encouragement. A special program of music was rendered and Rev. Anna Howard Shaw delivered an eloquent sermon.

Miss Susan B. Anthony was re-elected president of the association for the ensuing year. The other officers elected were Rev. Anna Shaw, of Philadelphia, vice president; Miss Rachel Foster Avery, of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary; Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, of Boston, Mass., recording secretary, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Warren, Ohio, treasurer, and Mrs. Carrie L. Chapman-Catt, chairman of the committee on organization.

MISSING CHICORA.

Efforts Being Made to Find the Lost Vessel.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The Dunham Towing company today sent a tug to South Chicago with instructions to make every effort to reach the point where the supposed hull of the missing Chicora was seen yesterday. Owing to the heavy ice it was thought that the chances for the tug reaching its destination were slight and the general opinion among marine men was that the object seen in the ice is not the Chicora's hull but a pile of debris.

Died Suddenly.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 4.—Daniel Shelby, manager of the music hall in this city, died suddenly of heart disease this morning, aged fifty-seven years. He was well known in the theatrical profession, having managed houses in New York, Buffalo and Chicago. During his residence in Buffalo he was an intimate friend of Grover Cleveland. A wife and son survive him. Mrs. Shelby, his wife, is now singing with an opera company. Shelby's home was in New York city.

CHARGES PREFERRED

Against Superintendent Johnson by Senator Boyd.

Too Many Democrats, Too Many Relatives, and Cruelty to Children are the Charges.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 4.—Senator Boyd, of the committee on benevolent institutions, has reported charges made against Alexander Johnson, the superintendent of the School for Feeble Minded Youths at Fort Wayne. Boyd claims that Johnson has been partisan in his management of the institution, employing more democrats than republicans, and is guilty of cruelty and employing relatives. Johnson denies the charges and will have a hearing.

A SENTINEL representative called up Mr. Johnson by telephone and asked him if he had more democrats than republicans among his employes. He answered:

"I never inquire about the politics of my employes and I do not know the political complexion of the institution. We employ people for their worth and not their politics."

We did not ask Mr. Johnson concerning the other charges, but we know that his wife and brother-in-law are both employes at the institution and were employed by the authority of the board of trustees. They are both competent and active in the discharge of their duties. The other charges in reference to cruelty are without foundation.

Superintendent Johnson is a good official and will compare favorably with the superintendent of any institution in the state of Indiana. He is strictly honest, upright and moral in his character, an unusually hard worker, and a man strictly devoted to the best interests of the institution. The state of Indiana will go a long way before they get a better superintendent than Mr. Johnson.

EDITORS GIVE PREFERENCES.

Republicans Name Their Favorites for the Presidential Nomination.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—The Commercial Gazette prints the presidential preferences of republican editors from every state and territory in the union. Vermont has a kindly feeling for Senator Redfield Proctor, who was secretary of war in Harrison's cabinet. Senator Chandler's New Hampshire paper has a leaning toward Senator Frye, of Maine. Utah wants silver and Senator Don Cameron. There is here and there a touch of "favorite son," but the great majority line up for some of the "Big Four" brought so prominently to the front last week—McKinley, Harrison, Reed or Allison, in the order named.

WITH A ROPE.

A Milwaukee Man Hangs Himself During His Wife's Absence.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 4. When Mrs. William Black returned from church yesterday morning she found her husband hanging dead from a hook in the wall. The couple lived at 191 Third street. Black was a tailor by trade and seventy two years of age. For a few weeks past he has suffered intense agony from an ulcerated tooth. It is supposed the pain became so great that he took his life to escape from suffering.

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.

Died of Paroxysms After Imagining She Heard Burglars.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Feb. 4.—Dora Dold, aged forty-two, wife of Elias Dold, residing at Sellersburg, died yesterday of fright. At midnight Mrs. Dold awoke and thought she heard burglars ransacking the premises. This proved purely imaginary, but the thought of thieves so terrorized her nervous constitution that she died in paroxysms three hours later.

Earthquakes Frequent.

OAXACA, Mexico, Feb. 4.—The severe earthquake shocks which have been felt in the district of Tuxtepec, this state almost daily for the past four weeks are becoming more frequent and severe. Almost every house in the town of Tuxtepec is in ruins and the damage will amount to several thousands of dollars. The district is very mountainous and there is smoke pouring from the crater of an extinct volcano near the town, which indicates that the earthquake shocks are caused by the threatened volcanic eruption.

The Coffee Industry.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 4.—A party of fifteen prominent bankers and business men of Kansas City and Topeka have arrived here for the purpose of investigating the coffee industry. They will go the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, where they will make extensive purchases of lands adapted to coffee culture. Their investigation has convinced them that at the present low price of silver there is great profit in the raising of coffee, as the product is sold in foreign markets for gold while it is raised on a silver basis.

Countess of Dunde Dead.

NICE, Feb. 4.—The countess of Dundee, wife of the third earl of Durie, is dead. She was a daughter of James Haugh ton Langston, Esq., of Sarsden.

J. J. Logan, the deputy United States clerk, spent Sunday at Chicago.

FRIGHTFUL PLUNGE

A Trolley Car Dives Into the Kinnickinic,

Carrying the Motorman and Two Women to Their Death—The Scene Graphically Described.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 4.—A trolly car on the Russell avenue and Holton street line ran through an open draw of Kinnickinic bridge at 8:20 o'clock this morning. The car struck endwise on the ice, through which it plunged into the water. The motorman was drowned and at least two passengers are reported to have lost their lives. The ice broke the windows of the car, which stood on end and only partially filled with water.

The first body recovered was that of a woman, who was taken out a few minutes after the accident. The confusion was such that nobody could tell an hour after the catastrophe how many people had lost their lives, but it is believed that at least six, besides the motorman, are dead. There were ten or twelve people in the car, the exact number being unknown. Six were taken out alive, and the others are all dead. Those rescued were: W. P. Severy, 729 Walnut street, hand cut; A. Oertel, 766 Island avenue; C. W. Clare, 727 Fourth street; H. Keubn, 337 Reed street; R. B. Rand, 30 Grove street and Ella Walcholze, 1118 Eleventh street, hurt about the shoulder. The dead are:

Miss Ehlman, a kindergarten teacher in the Twelfth district primary school, and a daughter of Professor Ehlman, director of music in the public schools.

John Kennedy, motorman of car No. 115.

Miss Schmidtkuntz, of the National Knitting mills.

The car was in charge of Conductor Peterson. The bridge had been opened to permit the passage of the fire boat Foley, which was breaking the ice in the Kinnickinic. The members of the Foley's crew rendered valuable assistance in rescuing those who were saved and in recovering the bodies of the victims.

THE PARTICULARS OF THE ACCIDENT.

Russell avenue and Holton street car, No. 115, southbound, was speeding up Kinnickinic avenue at about half past 8 o'clock this morning with twelve passengers aboard. The Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing, situated about two thirds of a block north of the Kinnickinic bridge, was made on schedule time. At the conductor's signal to come ahead, Motorman John Kennedy applied his power and the car started onward. Rolling along at a fair speed, not more than probably ten or twelve feet from the bridge, Conductor Peterson, who is said to have been in service only a short time, rang the bell to stop.

Instantly the passengers became alive to the fact that there was something out of the ordinary, and looking out saw the open bridge almost at hand and no brakes had yet been applied. At the sound of the bell the motorman grasped the brake crank and twisted it with might and main. But the wheels slipped, there was no time to reach for sand, and to the horror of the helpless passengers they realized that no power on earth could prevent them from plunging headlong into the icy waters.

Wild shrieks from the four women passengers, intermingled with the breathless gasps of the pale faced men. There was no time to plan or to say a word.

The rear door was all the means of escape that was offered. The men on the rear end, two or three, including the conductor, had already jumped. William P. Severy was the first to reach the door. He had occupied the front seat at the window and had seen the bridge open shortly after the railroad had been passed. He needed not the warning bell of the conductor to notify him of the danger. He was the first to bound forward and reached the handle of the rear door. But he never opened it. The instant he touched it the forward end went down and he together with the terror stricken passengers who were crowded behind him were thrown to the front end.

A heavy crash followed as the ice was struck and the car gradually sank midway into the water. The fire was instantly quenched and the passengers entirely submerged. The two ladies who met their death must have been at the very bottom and were instantly suffocated, as their bodies bear no signs of bruises. One woman, probably Ella Wachholze, clung desperately to Edward Hoffman as he continued to raise himself out of the water. He could lend no assistance, however, as his strength was almost gone. But the strong arm of a rescuer was near at hand and the helpless woman was safely borne above the water and soon placed in a place of refuge.

Annie Alb was rescued in a similar way. Their preservation is due to the fact they chanced to be the farthest away from the rear door in the first attempt to escape. Miss Schmidtkuntz's body was the first recovered. Afterwards the body of Miss Ehlman and the motorman were taken from the car. Two attempts were made to lift the car but the chains broke each time. Police used grappling hooks on the wrecked car without effect. It is now thought that the list of dead will be limited to the three names given.

JUDGE GAYNOR.

No Decision Today in the Vanderbilt Case.

FREDERICK, Feb. 4.—Judge Gaynor this morning gave out word to the newspaper men that he will not render any decision today on the application for an order to show cause why a peremptory writ of mandamus should not be issued to compel the Atlantic Avenue Railroad company to operate its lines of cars. This is the writ which was applied for by James O'Connell on Friday last.

GOT ALL THE MONEY.

Masked Men Burglarize a Bank at Milan, Ohio.

Safe Blown Open and, After Helping Themselves, the Robbers Escape in Wagons.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Lockwood's bank, at Milan, Erie county, was entered by five masked burglars at 1 o'clock this morning, the safe blown open and robbed of what money it contained. The men were seen as they were escaping in a wagon, headed for Sandusky. A lively exchange of shots took place between Charles Stoddard and the gang but they got away safely.

It has been discovered that the robbers secured about $3,000. As soon as the robbery was discovered a posse of men was hurriedly organized and soon followed in pursuit. At the same time notices were sent by wire in all directions and the news spread around them so securely that escape was well nigh impossible. At Sandusky two men were caught, while it is only a question of a few hours before the remaining three will find themselves in the toils.

The bank is a wealthy concern which fact was doubtless known by the men. The only error in their well laid plans was the heavy explosion which started the alarm. It is quite probable that they had not prepared it with sufficient caution and by that one error their plans were upset and themselves in hourly danger of capture.

MOHICAN NOT LOST.

She Reached St. Michaels in Safety, January 13.

Dr. Herring and His Bride Create a Sensation by Taking a Bridal Tour in a Yacht.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The mysterious schooner yacht Mohican, from New York, is not lost as reported in the United States, unless she has met with disaster since January 13, for on that date she arrived at St Michaels, Azores Land.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The Mohican sailed from New York in the latter part of November with Dr. W. Conyers Herring, his bride of a few days, and a young girl, Letitia Thompson, on board. According to general report, Miss Thompson is said to have run away from home in order to take this cruise. Dr. Herring is the son of Wm Herring, the promoter of the Georgia Central. He purchased the Mohican from Geo. Fitzgerald & Co., of Boston. The first wife of Dr. Herring was an English lady, with whom he lived in London for several years.

In England the most intimate friend of Dr. Herring was Montague Eder, who was the doctor's classmate at Oxford, and who is said to be his partner in the Mohican venture. When Dr. Herring returned to New York with his wife Eder accompanied them. Dr. and Mrs. Herring disagreed and Mrs. Herring returned to England, to which country she was followed by Mr. Eder. Dr. Herring began divorce proceedings early in 1894, but his wife and Mr. Eder, who came back to this country, succeeded in inducing the doctor to refrain from pushing the action. Some time afterwards Mrs Herring began a suit against her husband, and in November last she was granted an absolute divorce, with the privilege of marrying again. This privilege was denied the doctor.

However, Dr. Herring and Miss Mable Harris, of Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, were married in Jersey City on November 17, last. They returned to New York and resided there while the Mohican was being prepared for her voyage. Wishing to secure a companion for Mrs. Herring, No 2, the doctor advertised for one and Letitia Thompson applied for the place, pleading she was ill treated at home, and she was engaged. But Mrs. Thompson, the girl's mother, refused to let the girl go and visiting the yacht one day, while the family was away, compelled Letitia to go ashore; but while walking up Vesey street the girl ran away and made her escape.

Mr. Eder, it appears in the meantime had married Mrs. Herring No. 1 and had returned to England after, as reported, drawing up co-partnership papers with Dr Herring, which resulted in the purchase and fitting out of the Mohican for a long voyage. It is said that it was intended to arm the Mohican with two gatling guns, but whether this was done or not is not known. The destination of the Mohican was said to be Plymouth, England, where Mr. Eder and his wife, formerly Mrs. Herring No 1, were to join the party. The first stopping place was announced to be Fayall, Azore Islands, and the eventual destination of the Mohican was said to be the South Pacific, where her two owners were to go into pearl fishing on a large scale.

There were five accessions to the Westminster church yesterday.

NORTON WAS MURDERED

His Body Found in the Cabin of a Sloop.

The Dead Man's Companions, Whoever They Were, Have Silently and Mysteriously Disappeared.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 4.—A private letter to Alderman D. A. Blakslee from his brother, Clarence, who is at their winter home in Rock Ledge, Fla., gives the particulars of the supposed murder of William Norton, of Illinois, who left Providence, R. I., last November for the south. Norton was in Providence to coach the Brown University foot ball team. About a month ago he hired a sloop at Titusville, Fla., and sailed down the Indian river as far as Sebastian. On the return trip the sloop put in at Rock Ledge on Friday, January 18, and Mrs. C. W. Blakslee, mother of the writer, saw two men on board. The sloop lay to for several days with no signs of life on board and this caused Clarence Blakslee, on Monday, January 28, to investigate. He found in the cabin the putrid body of a man, blackened, and the head swollen terribly. No trace of the other man was found. A midnight inquest was held on the river bank, the sheriff having to cut away the cabin in order to take out the body, which had swollen too large for the passage through the door. Foul play is suspected, but no definite proof of it has been obtained. The body is believed to be that of Norton.

SHOT AT HIM.

Strikers Try to Kill the Boss of a Glass Factory.

Manager Humphreys and His Nine Employes Arrested for Assembling With Winchesters.

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio, Feb. 4.—As Alex Humphrey, manager of the Buckeye Glass company, was entering the works this morning, three shots were fired at him by a crowd of four union men who had followed him. None of the shots took effect and the men escaped. There is a strike on at the works. Manager Humphrey and nine employes were arrested today, charged by an officer of the Glass Workers union with unlawfully assembling with loaded Winchesters and preventing citizens from speaking with non-union men who arrived on the train to go to work in the mill. All furnished bonds.

TURKISH OUTRAGES.

English Newspapers Severely Criticize the Sultan.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The letter of the correspondent of the Associated Press, who is now in Armenia, giving the first direct and authentic facts regarding the reported Turkish atrocities in Armenia, was published here this morning after having appeared exclusively in all the newspapers of the Associated Press yesterday, Sunday. It is attracting much attention in England as it is admitted to be the first impartial account of the troubles concerning which so much has been said and written by the Armenians and by the Turks.

The Daily Telegraph, for instance, says: "The story is enough to make civilization and humanity despair. Both sides appear to be guilty of facts against every canon of honesty, morality and civilization."

The Daily News, in its comments on the same subject remarks: "Even if the accusations are fully proved the bulk of the Armenians have been extremely patient under hideous cruelty."

The St James Gazette says: "England had better take notice that there are undoubtedly two sides to the question."

DEFY THE POPE'S ORDER.

Fraternity Men at Bucyrus Decline to Abandon Their Lodges.

BUCYRUS, Ohio, Feb. 4.—A large number of influential members of Holy Trinity Catholic church have refused to accept the conditions of the recent papal mandate, and will remain loyal to their lodges. The president of the church council is a member of the Knights of Pythias, and when the time came to reorganize the council yesterday refused to accept re-election. He will sacrifice his membership in the church rather than the lodge. A dozen leading Catholics refuse to accept the orders from the pope, considering it un-American and in the nature of oppression. The Catholic members of the Odd Fellows are equally strong in their determination to disregard the orders of the pope, and the church here will be greatly affected by the stand these men have taken.

TREASURER SHOULD PAY.

Wyoming Legislative Committee Examines the Shortage in State Funds.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 4.—The report of the joint committee to examine the books of the state auditor and treasurer was made Saturday. The report shows a shortage of $25,434.70 in the treasurer's office. This is the amount lost by Treasurer Gramm by the failure of the Kent bank. The report holds that Otto Gramm and his bondsmen are liable for the above amount, and recommends that the proper authorities proceed to collect.

Formed a Syndicate.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—The facts have just leaked out about a secret meeting at the hotel Aragon in this city Thursday for the purpose of forming a syndicate. The Georgia Alabama syndicate will cooperate with those already virtually in existence in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi and the result will be the formation of a trust which will control the southern pine timber market. The mills represented include the vast majority of the southern plants turning out long leaf pine.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Pantaleon Zuber Expires Without a Moment's Warning

She Was An Early Pioneer Resident—Demise of Mrs. Anna Mary Jones of Bloomingdale.

Last night, at her home in Marion township, occurred the death from asthma of Mrs. Pantaleon Zuber, one of the oldest and best known German pioneer residents of Allen county. She had appeared as usual during the day, but at 10 o'clock suddenly expired surrounded by other members of the family. She was seventy-eight years of age and has lived in Allen county for some forty years past. She leaves four grown daughters and three sons all of whom reside in this county. The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church at Hesse Castle.

JONES.

Mrs. Anna May Jones, of No. 112 Wells street, died this morning at her home aged forty-seven, of congestion of the lungs. Deceased was born in England and leaves a husband and nine children. The father is employed in the shoe department at the Fruit House. Funeral will be held Thursday afternoon.

DOBILINSKI.

"Mrs. Marguerite Dobilinski, mother of Charles Dobilinski, of this city, died at her residence, near Hagerstown, Maryland, on Wednesday last, of pneumonia, after a few days illness, in the sixty fourth year of her age. The remains were brought to this city on Monday morning last and interred in Mt. Hope cemetery. The deceased was a resident of our city several years ago. Mrs Dobilinski had many friends here and was a social and a grand, noble woman." The foregoing, from the Lambertville, N. J., Beacon, will be of sad interest to many of the older residents of Fort Wayne, as the Dobilinski family formerly resided here. Mr. Louis Dobilinski erected a paper mill and was the first manufacturer of paper.

WAITS IN JAIL.

John Sing Lee Bound Over to Court for Larceny.

An Old Man Struck Over the Head With a Cane, Files an Affidavit Against His Assailant.

John Sing Lee, the Chinese laundryman, who is charged with stealing clothing from Levi Brothers, had a preliminary hearing before Justice Harry France and was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $300 on the charge of larceny. In default of bail he was sent to jail. The hearing of his case will occur in the circuit court next week.

John Buschett, an old man with an ugly wound on his head and blood all over one side of his face, appeared in the court of Justice Charles Hays this afternoon and made affidavit that he had been assaulted by Charles Darroch, on Columbia street. He said Darroch had struck him over the head with a cane. Justice Hays issued a warrant for Darroch's arrest and placed it in the hands of the constable.

The case of Daniel W. Souder against N. R. Leonard, C. B. Everett and E. V. Harris for libel has been dismissed in the circuit court upon the motion of the plaintiff's attorneys.

The circuit and superior courts convened this morning, but no business of importance was transacted. The grand jury will meet next Monday.

Justice France has sent George Michaels to jail for fifteen days on the charge of vagrancy.

Prosecuting Attorney Colerick seems to have weakened on the Sunday Sun prosecution.

KILLED IN A MINE.

White Fighting a Fire an Explosion Occurred

Wrecking the Galleries and Entombing the Miners—Thirty Lives are Lost.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—An explosion of fire damp is reported from Mont Ceau Les Mines, department of Saone Et Loire. Thirty persons are believed to have been killed in the mine where the explosion took place. The fire broke out in the St Eugenie pit and while the miners were fighting this fire an explosion occurred which wrecked the galleries and entombed the miners. The rescue party, thus far, has recovered twenty one bodies and has removed from the mine eight terribly injured miners.

ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF FRAUD.

Statesmen Charge That the Congressional Seat Was Bought.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Lawyer Goldwater, chairman of Good Government Club X, acting for Congressman Timothy J. Campbell, has served notice of contest on Congressman elect Harry Miner, charging that Miner won his election through the use of money and that he failed to file an itemized account of his election expenses in the county clerk's office, as required by law. Miner served his answer Saturday evening. He denies the accusations and alleges that the oriental statesman used money, and he failed to make a true account of expenditures to the county clerk. Miner claims his election by 500 majority.

TRULY SILVER TONGUED

Col. George W. Bain's Stirring Talk on Temperance.

He Thinks the Evil of Strong Drink Causes More Hard Times Than Either Silver or Tariff.

Sixty minutes seemed as five to those who yesterday afternoon, at the Baptist Tabernacle, listened to Col. George W. Bain deliver his lecture, "Drink, the Enemy of the Laboring Man and Business."

Col. Bain was introduced to the large audience by Pastor Northrop and began his discourse by saying that for the past two years this country has been suffering from a serious attack of hard times. Some said it was the tariff—some, the monetary question. The colonel said he had not come to Fort Wayne to argue either of these two questions—if congress would adjourn and go home, or do something while they are in session, he thought both these issues might be adjusted. That the tariff and silver question were largely a matter of geography, he illustrated by saying that not long since he was in southern Texas. The air was warm and balmy and children were bare footed. He took a train for northern Maine and found, upon his arrival there, that the thermometer was 30 degrees below zero and the snow five feet deep. Then he realized that he wanted protection—from the weather.

An eminent statesman writing recently in the New York Mail and Express had said that what troubled this country was too much silver and too much tariff. "And he was wrong," said Colonel Bain. "It is too much extravagance and too much whisky. It is true we are suffering from money being withdrawn from circulation and articles stored in the warehouses waiting for purchasers. But a country with such vast resources and such enterprising and intelligent people is not suffering from over production. We had a period of good times, but we couldn't stand the prosperity. We rushed our surplus cash into worthless lots in boom towns and bought thousands of things we could never pay for. Then the women got to buying dry goods and the men wet goods. But the men outstripped the women in the race and last year expended the enormous sum of $1,000,000,000 for liquor and tobacco. A dead loss. And what did they get in return—bleared eyes, paralized hands, broken constitutions, ragged wives and children, heaven lost and at last, a drunkard's grave.

"Drink, it will thus be seen, is a greater curse to the laboring men than all else. It robs him first of his proportion of labor by paralizing trade and then it robs him of his strength and ability to perform labor when it is offered. There are two classes of laboring men, the wise and the otherwise. Of this latter class may be mentioned the throng of 20,000 laboring men who marched through the streets of Chicago with banners upon which were inscribed, 'Our Children Cry for Bread,' and then went to a picnic and drank 14,000 kegs of beer.

"Talk about strikes and boycotts. Why in sixty days time the amount spent for liquor alone in this country would buy the Pulman car works entire and in 120 days Pulman's vast fortune could be more than duplicated.

"I am for total prohibition," said Col Bain. "High license is a compact with the devil. You can never settle the question until you settle it right. Slavery was an awful curse to this nation and it was never settled until it was settled right. Henry Clay's compromise was thought to settle the question but from away up in the New England states there came, in thundering tones, the voice of Wm. Lloyd Garrison: 'The question is not settled for it is not settled right.'

"And so it is with the liquor traffic, it must be settled right to be settled for good. What ails the country now is the fact that too many good men are indifferent as to the question of temperance. They believe drink is a curse but they do not put their shoulders to the wheel and push. We must have an awakening in all the churches and all along the line of christian work to overcome this awful monster—this demon of strong drink."

Last evening, at the First Presbyterian church, Colonel Bain delivered another brilliant lecture, entitled: "The Safe Side of Life for Young Men." There was a large attendance.

BETHANY'S GROWTH.

The Young Church Has a Large Addition to Membership.

Yesterday was a red letter day at the Bethany Presbyterian church, thirty three new names having been added to the membership roll of this young and growing congregation. The morning sermon was preached by Rev. Lloyd and was a forcible discourse. In the evening the services were under the charge of the men's league and the following program was carried out:

[illegible]

The organist was H. L. Reed and the men's quartet, John Brown, Dr. Stemen, F. Smaltz and Rev. Geo. E. Davies, the handshaking committee, George Moore and Mr. Longsworth and the ushers John Flickinger and George Storer.

The large addition to the church yesterday is due in a great degree to the active work of Rev. and Mrs. Davies. The pastor is a good pulpit speaker and an untiring worker, and in the latter field he has a valuable assistant in Mrs. Davies.

ANOTHER IMPOSTER.

He Goes About the Streets Imposing on Charitable Citizens

A Cutting Affair Which Came Near Terminating With Serious Consequences—Other News.

Saturday night, at the Y. M. C. A. building, Officer Tauber arrested a vagrant who said his name was J. M. Lewis, and who created no little amusement at police court this morning. In the absence of Deputy Prosecutor Charles Ryan, Attorney J. M. Robinson acted as state's attorney and gave the prisoner a very close cross examination. Lewis has been about the city for the past few days imposing on charitable people. Dr. Moffat and a number of other ministers were taken in by the fellow, who had succeeded in getting a pass to Van Wert from the township trustee. When Lewis was searched at the station a pocket diary was found upon him, giving a minute account of his adventures and success in "working" the towns. Every article which had been given him was set down with the utmost fidelity. When sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs or go to jail the prisoner walked up to the mayor's desk, and asking for his diary, tore it to a hundred pieces. He went to jail.

The other drunks were John Kelly, Walter Burns, Jim Wilson and Charles Johnson. All went to jail in default of $1 and costs each.

A CUTTING AFFRAY.

A cutting affair occurred in the Globe restaurant, on Calhoun street, early yesterday morning in which William Bushor, a waiter, cut Charles Lotz. The quarrel started over a newsboy. Lotz went into the Globe shortly after 6 o'clock and asked for whisky. He was refused and began to quarrel with a newsboy who was eating his breakfast, and finally slapped the little fellow. Bushor took up the quarrel and one word brought on another until the waiter, loosing all control of himself, grabbed up a big butcher knife and went for Lotz, who, seeing murder in his antagonist's eye, turned to get away. Bushor, however, began hacking away at the fellow, striking him several times in the back and cutting his overcoat almost to pieces. Two of the thrusts entered the flesh. After he was cut Lotz walked to his brother's restaurant at 21 Calhoun street. He was bleeding terribly when he reached the place. Officer Hardendorf had just came on duty, and one of the newsboys at the corner of Main and Calhoun streets informed him of the affair. The officer went to the Queen restaurant, and when he saw that Lotz was bleeding so badly he called Dr. Niswonger and then went to the Globe and arrested Bushor, who was taken to the police station. The wounded man was taken to the Hope hospital where Drs. Schrader and Niswonger found the injured man not seriously cut. A few stitches soon fixed the wounds and today Lotz was able to be out. Bushor's friends, as soon as they learned of the affair, began to arrange for his release. Mayor Oakley made an investigation and when he was informed by Dr. Schrader that there was no danger of fatal results he released the young man on a $300 bond, signed by Mr. Bailey, a relative.

This morning Bushor was up before Mayor Oakley on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The case was continued until Wednesday.

A MEAN TRICK.

Saturday night some evil minded person played a mean trick on Humane Agent Schlaudroff by visiting his hen roost and stealing a third of all the fowls therein. Mr. Schlaudroff, not wishing to be the cause of further sinning upon the part of some chicken-hungry west sider at once gave the rest of the fowls away. He only had three to begin with.

SAW SOUDER.

Four Men Claim to Have Seen Him at Danville, Ill.

Sheriff Clausmeier returned this morning from Danville, Ill., where he went in search of Daniel W. Souder, the missing ex-county clerk. He did not discover his whereabouts but learned that four men were positive they had seen Souder at that place last Tuesday. One man who was acquainted with Souder said he met him on the street. This story is in accord with the one published in THE SENTINEL that a Wabash brakeman had seen Souder on the streets of Danville last Tuesday.

The present congress has but four weeks more to live.

Twenty-four days of the sixty-one which the general assembly of Indiana will sit have passed. Five bill have been passed and signed by the governor. More than 100 bills have been killed.

President Cleveland is overwhelmed with telegrams indorsing the recommendations in his recent message to congress. His firm stand on the currency question has caused a revival of confidence among British investors and did much towards giving an impetus to business in this country.

The anticipated duel between Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and Mr. Heard, of Missouri, will not take place. On the contrary, all is now peaceful between the two belligerents and all traces of the conflict have disappeared. Both men have made public apologies to each other on the floors of congress and withdrawn the offensive remarks they made.

Representative Gregg, of Porter county, has introduced a bill in the legislature to amend the law governing trial by jury. It provides that nine may render a verdict when the jury is composed of twelve men and five when the jury is composed of six men. The passage of the bill would save the counties a great deal of money that is now paid out for the second trial of cases in which former juries have disagreed.

The Missouri senate has passed a bill providing for a commission to be appointed by the governor and to serve without pay, to act with similar commissions appointed by New York and other states, with the object of bringing about uniformity of laws among the different states on marriage, divorce, descent and distribution of property, insolvency, and the acknowledgment of deeds, execution and probate of wills, and negotiable paper. This is a wise and proper proceedings and other state legislatures ought to adopt similar bills. Uniformity of laws on the subjects noted in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri would facilitate business among the greater portion of the population of the United States.

Governor Matthews has issued a proclamation calling for a special election in Kosciusko and Wabash counties to select a successor to the late Senator J. D. Thayer. The election will be held February 1[illegible]. It will take some time to canvass the vote, and the senator to be elected can hardly take his seat before February 22. Senator Thayer's term would have expired with the present general assembly, and his successor can not serve much longer than two weeks. The cost of the election will be between $3,000 and $4,000. The law calling for a special election is imperative.

S[illegible] farmers in Adams county belonging to the Amish denomination have formed a colony and will join with a large number of other families of the same faith just over the Ohio line and locate on a big tract of land recently purchased by them, in Paulding county, Ohio. These people are very clannish, devote themselves exclusively to agriculture and live in colonies in which there is always a church. They are devout, and those in this part of Indiana are almost without exception well-to-do. It is said that a hundred families will locate in the new colony, just across the Ohio state line.

The Saturday edition of the Daily Advertiser of Tiffin, Ohio, was a twelve page paper edited wholly by the women of that city. The entire work, aside from the mechanical part, was done by a staff of sixty ladies, Mrs. Dr. Williard being editor in chief, Mrs. Lola Van Tine, city editor, and Mrs. Judge Ridgeley, business manager. The entire proceeds of the office for that day went to the Old Ladies' Home of that city. The issue was a most magnificent one. Every department was carefully looked after and the day's work as reflected in the columns of the superb edition certainly attests woman's ability in the field of journalism. The local department was excellent and City Editor Mrs. Van Tine and her corps of reporters proved themselves fully competent to handle every feature of news gathering, even to the reporting of dog fights, the police court and the city council. The Nineteenth century woman is certainly a wonder of wonders. Tiffin should be proud of this issue of the Advertiser and the Advertiser should be proud of its women editors.

Mr. Phillips' Plan.

Representative Thomas W. Phillips is one of the richest men in congress. Unlike some other rich men of Pennsylvania, he is intensely interested in seeing the difficulties between labor and capital permanently settled in his country. He has himself formulated a modest plan looking to that desirable end.

Mr. Phillips does not favor the passage of a compulsory arbitration law at the present time. He does desire, however, the appointment of a national labor commission of experts in accordance with a bill which he has introduced to the labor committee of the house. This committee he would have composed of 21 persons in all. Under the provisions of his bill the president is to appoint on the commission of experts five representatives each of labor, agriculture and business. These three groups will each choose two other persons to aid them in their deliberations, so that the groups will consist of seven experts each. The commission is authorized to investigate all questions of capital and labor from the standpoint of both sides in all the leading branches of industry in the country, and finally, when the conflicting interests of all have been duly considered, to recommend such legislation to both congress and the separate states as will tend to harmonize opposing interests.

Finally, as an earnest of his desire to help this distracted country out of the sea of labor troubles it is in, Mr. Phillips proves his faith by his works by offering to pay all the salaries of the commissioners himself while they are investigating. This is to save expense to the government of not less than $250,000.

Typewriters and Trotters.

One of the striking features of the past ten years in this country is the development respectively of speed in the trotter and typewriter. A generation ago a three minute horse was a very good one indeed. The best time of Flora Temple was 2:19¾ in 1859. When Nancy Hanks appeared on the scene with her mile in 2:04, it was thought trotting had reached its climax. Now little Alix has trotted her mile in 2:03¾, and Robert J has paced his in 2:01½. The two minute horse is confidently predicted for the end of this century.

As with the trotter, so with the typewriter. The first great acceleration of speed was made when it became possible for nimble fingered young women to take direct on the typewriter from dictation without the intervention of shorthand notes. It is not very uncommon now to find an expert who can manipulate the writing machine at the rate of 115 words a minute, the rate which a few years ago was thought to be good speed for the shorthand note taker.

Today there are typewriters who are equal to ticking off 150 words a minute for a short time. This necessitates 16 letters a second. It is a tremendous speed, which has been accomplished partly by improved mechanical appliances on the machines themselves, partly by development of mental and muscular quickness in the operator. The fingers become so educated to touching certain keys that there is a species of memory developed in them.

"It would be hard to find a more degraded body of men," says Prosecutor Goff, concerning the New York city police department. What interests other parts of the country is the question whether the police of New York are alone in their degradation.

There is one advantage the republic of France has over us, with all her little flurries. When a president resigns or his time is out in France, it only takes 48 hours and no expense at all to re-elect him or to seat a brand new one in his place.

FARM AND GARDEN

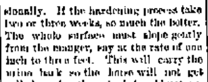

A GOOD STABLE FLOOR.

How It May Be Made Out of Cobblestones and Cement.

Does some farmer want to make a good stable floor out of cobblestones and cement? If so, he has but to observe the following directions from The Farm Journal, which says:

Let him dig out the earth 18 inches deep and fill in with the stones to within six inches of the surface where he would have his horse's feet. Next let him ram down hard three inches of concrete made of cement 1 part—Portland cement preferred—clean, sharp sand 3 parts and screened gravel 6 parts. Wet the gravel well and mix in the sand and cement thoroughly. The mass must be sprinkled until it will retain any shape it is pressed into. The surface coat is an inch thick, put on before the first coat of concrete sets. It is made of 3 parts sharp sand and 1 part cement. This is spread smoothly and must not be disturbed till the entire floor is as hard, like a block of granite.

To induce it to dry slowly and so prevent cracking it may be covered with a thin layer of straw and sprinkled occasionally. If the hardening process take two or three weeks, so much the better. The whole surface must slope gently from the manger, say at the rate of one inch to three feet. This will carry the urine back so the horse will not get soiled nor be otherwise injured by it, as, for instance, the injury to his eyes from the ammonia it often generates.

A STONE AND CEMENT FLOOR.

But the horse must not stand on this concrete, else his feet will spoil it as he stamps at flies. A plank rack must cover it for a stamping surface. This is made of 2 inch stuff, sawed 4 inches wide and laid three quarters of an inch apart on cleats. The rear cleat should be enough thicker than the front one to level up the floor. A level floor is necessary for the health of the horse's feet. Filth will collect between the slats of the floor and must be cleaned out daily by the use of an iron or hook as thick as the spaces between the planks. The square and spirit level will be needed to make the floor a good one. It will save bedding and run off the urine into the manure vault or sewer. A bare cobble floor is not a satisfactory one for the horse, because so rough, hard and uneven; for the owner, because so hard on the horse's feet and so difficult to keep clean. In the engraving showing the stone and cement floor, 1 represents the space filled with cobbles, 2 the grouting of gravel and cement, 3 the inch of fine surface, 4 the thick rear cleat, 5 plank slats for the horse's feet. The foundation is placed thus deeply to avoid the action of frost.

Evaporated Fruits.

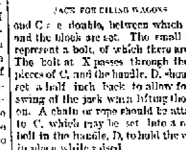

The evaporation of fruit is one of the many industries that have grown so enormously in the past few years. Having its beginning on the Delaware peninsula, it has gradually extended over the large fruit belt between the Atlantic and the Pacific. Large evaporators must be located where an abundance of fruit can be secured at a reasonable price. Unless this is done the business cannot be made successful. But large evaporators recan acquired business skill in this particular pursuit. The party in charge must understand it thoroughly, keep posted in every detail and be a close observer of all markets. A correspondent of The Country Gentleman says:

Were I to instruct a party just going into business, I would say buy the best machinery attainable. If a large factory, use power machinery. It saves time, help and prevents one of the many expensive outlets that arise in this particular business. From 5 to 7 pounds of evaporated fruit can be made from 50 pounds of choice apples. Raspberries will make about 10 pounds per bushel. The question, Shall I put up an evaporator then? should be well weighed and calculated. Several important and necessary points must be considered. Is the locality suitable? Can fruit be purchased at a price to make it profitable? Can help be readily secured? With these questions answered in the affirmative, it is safe to proceed, as you will always be sure of a market for evaporated fruits.

A Cheap Wagon Jack.

For a wagon jack I never use a box, bench or my wife's dasher churn, writes a New England Homestead correspondent, who describes what he does use. It is an easily and cheaply made wagon jack. He says:

Use three-quarter inch oak lumber and 6½ inch bolts. Bevel the edges, especially of the handle. A is 3 feet 4 inches long, B 3 feet 8 inches, C 2 feet 3 inches, D, the handle or lever, 2 to 2½ feet. A and C are double, between which B, D and the block are set. The small rings represent a bolt, of which there are six. The bolt at X passes through the two pieces of C, and the handle, D, should be set a half inch back to allow for the swing of the jack when lifting the wagon. A chain or rope should be attached to C, which may be set into a nail or bolt in the handle, D, to hold the wagon in place while raised.

FEEDING CORN FODDER.

The Value Greatly Enhanced by Running the Stalks Through a Cutting Machine.

It is the general practice in nearly all the great corn growing states after husking or snapping the corn to turn the stock into the fields to forage from the cornstalks.

There is no doubt by this method of feeding that an immense quantity of feed material is wasted, partly by the large quantity of stalks which remain uneaten and partly by the destruction of nutritive matter through rain and frost. Every day of exposure tends to decrease the value of the fodder by destroying the sugar and other soluble parts which give to the plant its flavor and palatability.

One great reason why the value of well cured cornstalks from which the ears have been husked for feeding purposes has not been more generally recognized is that the stalks are bulky, and until the advent of cutting machinery have been difficult to handle, also, explains Prairie Farmer, farmers not understanding how to feed stalks to the best advantage have found that there was a large amount of waste. In experiments at the Wisconsin station it was shown that something like 80 per cent of the cornstalks can be saved by cutting them so that the entire stalk will be eaten. In riper corn, fed together with whatever nubbins there were, was only a waste of 9 per cent with the uncut fodder. With cornstalks valued at $1 a ton it was demonstrated that they are worth about $5.20 per ton when cut, and it was seen that the advance in value will quickly pay for a good sized cutting machine. In the winter season farmers, as a rule, have but little to do with their horses, and these can then be utilized in the cutting of fodder. It has been suggested that the larger steel cutting machines are much more economical than the hand machine.

In other experiments it was found that by putting the fodder through a cutter 36 per cent was saved in the first trial and 31 per cent in the second, the difference in the percentage being due to the variety of corn used. In trial No. 1 the uneaten fodder was 14 per cent of the total fed, while the gain by cutting was 36 per cent. In trial No. 2 the uneaten stalks were 30 per cent of the total fed, while the gain by cutting was 31 per cent. The fodder crop, when turned into butter, gave these results: The average of four trials showed that it required 2,150 pounds of corn fodder, cut fine, together with 750 pounds of bran and 450 pounds of cornmeal, to make 100 pounds of butter. Ordinarily an acre of fodder corn will yield about 12,000 pounds. Hence we find that we would have enough fodder on an acre of land for about 500 pounds of butter. To go with this fodder in producing this 500 pounds of butter we would need 3,750 pounds of bran and 2,250 pounds of cornmeal. Now let our readers take the cost of bran and cornmeal at their respective points, and adding this cost to the fodder fed they can easily determine the value of the fodder.

The Minorcas.

The merit of Spanish fowls is their production of large white eggs, which are laid in great abundance in moderate weather. They are also of very good quality as table birds. But they cannot be called good winter layers at the north, unless with the aid of artificial heat, and their delicacy is a drawback to their otherwise many merits.

It has been proved, however, that fanciers have this point much in their own hands, and even in spite of such a serious fault, wherever large eggs are greatly valued, the Spanish will always be regarded as useful and profitable. The Minorca is the best variety, regarded from this point. The difference between the white and black Minorcas has been summed up as follows: Blacks—Beak, dark slate color, eyes dark, legs black or very dark slate, plumage glossy black. White—Beak, white, eyes red, legs pinky white, plumage glossy white.

Notes and Comments.

The hop crop is heavy throughout Washington, Oregon and California.

One authority says that Velvet Chaff wheat seems to give better results on black soil than most other sorts.

The Russian thistle is now counted among Ohio's weed pests.

Dry ridge soil, with porous subsoil, is most favorable for cherry growing, says Professor J. L. Budd of Iowa.

Says Mr. Cy Warman: "The irrigated farm is the only 'sure thing' farm on the face of the earth. Here a man may for the small sum of $1 an acre, after first cost is paid, make it rain or shine on any or all of his acres when he wills. An irrigated farm never wears out."

Many counties in Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa have voted money to build irrigation works and provide that none but citizens of the county shall be employed on the works.

Pump and reservoir irrigation is proving a success on the dry plains of western Kansas.

J. W. Sanborn has tendered his resignation both as president of the college and director of the station and associated himself with The Mirror and Farmer as its agricultural editor.

The Doctor and the Monte Man.

The card sharp had swallowed a fish bone and was about choking to death when the physician reached him. In a very short time the physician had the bone out, and the sharp was all right again.

"How much do I owe you?" he asked gratefully.

"Ten dollars," replied the physician without the sign of a blush.

"Great Scot, man!" exclaimed the sharp. "You weren't working a minute. That's an enormous price to charge."

"My dear sir," responded the physician, with professional dignity, "that is not the way to look at it. You must consider the years of practice necessary to acquire my skill."

The sharp kicked, but it did no good, and he had to pay the bill.

Several weeks later the sharp, looking like a heavy swell, was on a train out of the city, and the doctor was in the same car, but he did not recognize his former patient. The sharp was working several of his little tricks with the boards, and he finally roped in the doctor. He manipulated him carefully for some time and at last landed him for $25.

"Here, here!" shouted the doctor when he saw his roll disappear. "You haven't given me any show at all. You got that money out of me by a simple twist of the wrist."

"My dear sir," responded the sharp soothingly, "that's no way to look at it. You should consider the years of practice necessary to acquire my skill."

Something at the moment reminded the doctor, and he looked the sharp over curiously. Then he smiled faintly and blushed.

"Um—er—ah!" he said. "Can't you give me back $15 of that and call it square?"—Detroit Free Press.

Idaho is the next state in which a woman suffrage amendment to the constitution will be submitted to the people. The New York Press says that women must know more about practical business life, especially making a living and managing financial affairs, before they can be trusted to vote in the most intelligent way. The Press thinks American men have shielded their wives and daughters too much from practical business life, especially in the matter of managing money, investing it and speculating wisely.

AN AFTERNOON NAP.

A Panther's Surprise When He Found His Victim Gone.

The colonel had gone off up the mountain for the afternoon, taking Joe with him, and after cleaning my rifle I lay down in the shade of a tree for a smoke. I had no idea of falling asleep, nor did I know when the pipe fell from my mouth. It was a warm, quiet day, with a sighing of the wind among the pines, and the last I remember was listening to the peculiar notes of a bird in the woods behind me. All of a sudden I was awake again after sleeping for about ten minutes. I did not start up, for my eyes were yet heavy, but I also had the feeling that some danger menaced. My heart was beating much faster than usual, there was a weakness in the knees, and my throat was contracted—the same sensations which come to a man wide awake and on his feet when he suddenly meets danger.

The first thing I heard was the bird still singing, the next a catlike purring in my ear and the step of some animal close beside me. In a single instant I realized that the purring came from a panther which had skulked upon me from the woods, and in my fright I opened my eyes. It was lucky for me that the beast had his head down to sniff at my hand instead of watching my face. I saw the top of his head and shoulders and knew that it was a panther sure enough, and then I closed my eyes and determined to "play dead" until forced to act otherwise. Had the beast been hungry he would have leaped upon me at once. Had he not been in good temper and curious minded he would not have saluted me with that purring. Just as my eyes closed he put one paw on my breast and moved me and uttered a low growl, and I felt that his eyes were closely watching for any signs of life. When he began purring again, I judged that he was satisfied that I was dead. He stepped over me three or four times, sniffed at my head, hands and feet, and twice the "whiskers" on his nose tickled my cheek until I was on the point of lifting my hand to rub.

The panther consumed fully ten minutes in his investigation and I was getting terribly nervous under the strain when he suddenly seized me by the right shoulder and began dragging me along the ground. I had on a tight hunting jacket, but it was knotted upon the shoulder, and his teeth did not touch the flesh. Although I weighed 180 pounds, he dragged me along with the greatest ease for a distance of 200 feet. He dropped me at a spot where the ground was covered with leaves and twigs and pine cones, and for two or three minutes he again sniffed at me as if to make sure that he was not deceived. While I believed that he had dragged me into the woods with intent to begin his dinner sooner or later, I was determined to play my part until I felt his teeth in my flesh. He kept me in doubt for awhile, evidently being undecided what course to pursue, but finally and to my glad relief began the work of covering me up. He did not lift twigs or branches in his mouth, but used both fore and hind paws to throw them over me. The soil at that spot was soft and damp, and he dug into it exactly as you have seen a dog dig for a rabbit.

The panther may have worked 20 minutes, but he accomplished what he set out to do and more than you would think he could. When he got through, I was fairly hidden under the dirt and leaves he had scratched up. He walked round and round me, as if inspecting his work, sometimes purring and sometimes growling, and at last trotted off into the forest. I could hear his footfalls for some time, and suspecting that he might sneak back to watch me I lay quiet for a quarter of an hour after hearing the last of him. Then I sprang up and rushed for camp, and the first feeling of relief came as I got my rifle in my hands.

Believing that the beast would come back within a couple of hours, I returned to the spot where he had buried me and kicked the leaves into a gravelike mound. Thirty feet to the west was a tree which the wind had uprooted, and I got down into the hole and prepared to wait and avenge myself. It was a male panther, and a big one, too, who had adventured with me, and when he left me it was to bring his mate. He probably did not have far to go, as I had not been waiting over half an hour when the pair showed up. The female was lank and lean and in savage temper. The male was leading as they came through the woods, but he halted beside a small cedar 40 feet from where he had left my body and gallantly permitted her the honor of the first attack.

The female crouched down, fastened her blazing eyes on the mound for a few seconds and then covered the distance at two bounds. She alighted on the mound with feet spread out and claws unsheathed, and the scream she uttered made my hair stand up. I intended to shoot the male, who offered a beautiful mark, but in this design I was baffled by his agility. As the female alighted she realized that some sort of deception had been practiced and uttered a peculiar cry. I had my rifle at my face, but even while I was pressing the trigger the male vanished from sight, and when I looked for his mate she seemed to have been swallowed up by the earth. Five minutes later I heard the two fighting on the hillside, but my opportunity for getting even had vanished forever.

ONLY A MISUNDERSTANDING.

And After It Was Explained Friendly Relations Continued.

As I sat in a cobbler's shop in a little mountain town to get my shoes repaired a native came in who was addressed as Mr. Sammis, and after some general talk the cobbler inquired:

"Any mo' killin's of late?"

"No, no mo' killin's," was the reply.

"But thar will be?"

"Of co'se."

"Yo' gwine to kill ole man Blake, I reckon?"

"Yes, I'm a-layin fur him, drat his ole hide."

I understood from the above that it was a case of family feud, and as Mr. Sammis looked like a good natured man I ventured to ask him some leading questions.

"Yo' see, it was this way," he slowly replied. "About six of us was gwine home together one evenin on hossback. The ole man Blake was one of us. By and by he takes out a bottle o' whisky and says to Sam Davis, 'Sam, wet yo'r whistle.' Sam he wet. Then he says to Bill White, 'Bill, wet yo'r whistle.' Bill he wet. And he said the same to all the others except me. He never axed me to wet my whistle, and I didn't wet. Consarn his pictur', but he meant to insult me, and I'm gwine to shoot him."

"Did you ever seek an explanation?" I asked.

"Of co'se not. Thar can't be no explanation to it."

"But I think there can. Did it ever occur to you that Mr. Blake didn't have whisky enough to go around, and that the bottle was empty before it got to you?"

"Shoo! I never thought of that. Doggone my hide, but that may be the reason."

"Has any one been killed yet?"

"No."

"Well, I met a man they called Blake down at the postoffice. He is an oldish man, with a scar on his cheek and wears a fur cap."

"That's the critter, and I'm gwine right down thar and pick a fuss with him."

"You wait until I have asked him a question or two and brought his answers."

I went down street and found Mr. Blake in a store. As soon as I could get opportunity I asked him if he remembered the circumstance and added:

"Now, Mr. Blake, why didn't you ask Jim Sammis to wet his whistle as well as the others?"

"Bekase I couldn't," he replied. "Arter Sam Davis had wet, and Bill White had wet, and Tom Harper and Joe Taylor and Charlie Brown had wet, thar wasn't even a decent smell o' whisky left in the bottle, and I didn't want to hurt Jim Sammis' tender feelin's. I was reckonin on havin him stop at the house and drink from the jug, but he drapped outer sight somehow."

Fifteen minutes later I had them together and shaking hands, and when all had been explained Mr. Blake said:

"Jim Sammis, yo' dern ole cuss, come down to the tavern and wet yo'r whistle, and, stranger, yo' blamed red headed critter, come along with us, and we'll feel so blamed good that this 'ere town will hev to spread over two miles of land to hold us."—Detroit Free Press.

It Was a Surprise.

Two sweet young things met in a steam car. They hadn't seen each other for ages, and they had to retail the ages' accumulation of news.

"Oh, do you know," said the one in brown, "that Harry Flitters is to marry Blanch Hilton?"

"I hadn't heard of it," said the one in gray. "Tell me about it."

"Well, I've heard it from several sources, and I must say that I don't think Blanch is to be congratulated."

"Why not?"

"Why, don't you know what a wretched flirt Mr. Flitters is?"

The one in gray shook her head.

"Well, it is so. And that isn't the worst of it."

"What else?"

"He's awfully fast."

"Really?"

"Yes, everybody knows it. Goes with the rapidest set of men in the city. Gambles, bets on horse races, drinks."

"Oh, surely not!"

"Fact. Drinks like a fish. Was carried home in a very mellow state one night last week."

"I can't believe it."

"Oh, it's true. They say Blanch won't believe it either. Aren't you sorry for her?"

"No."

"Well, perhaps she doesn't deserve any sympathy for marrying such a fellow. I don't sympathize with her myself."

"I don't believe she is going to be married to him," said the one in gray.

"Don't you? Why?"

"Because I am to be married to him myself next month. This is my corner. Goodby."

And the sweet young thing in gray stopped off the car, leaving the sweet young thing in brown gazing after her in wide eyed amazement.—Chicago Times.

A Slight Misunderstanding.

A well known brilliant entertainer, who has just returned from a five years' tour in south Pacific seas, has many amusing tales to tell, among which is the following.

"I was ordering my advertisement in a Melbourne daily newspaper office one day," said the narrator, "when a tall, lanky countryman walked in and said he wanted an 'In Memoriam' notice in the obituary column of the paper.

"'My ole guv'nor died a year ago,' he explained, 'and I should like a bit o' poetry in the paper about him.'

"'All right,' answered the clerk. 'Have you brought it with you?'

"'No,' said the rustic. 'Can't you fix me up a bit?'

"'Certainly,' replied the clerk. 'Our charge for "In Memoriam" notices is 6 shillings an inch.'

"A look of intense amazement passed over the countryman's face.

"'Good gracious,' he cried as he made for the door. 'I can't afford that! My guv'nor was 6 feet high!'"

Hadn't Time to Take Them Off.

Fond Parent—Goodness, how you look, child! You are soaked.

Frankie—Please, pa, I fell into the canal.

"What! With your new trousers on?"

"I didn't have time, pa, to take 'em off."—Omaha Bee.

A Suggestion.

Chubbs—I'm going to have a yacht built this winter. Going to call her the Mermaid. Appropriate name, don't you think?

Dubbs—Fair. Might be still more appropriate, though, to call her the Barmaid.—Life.

There is a great difference between the French and American republic. In France presidents frequently resign. In America they never do, though there are people who wish they would sometimes.

Lyon Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.:

GENTS—I think it my duty to send this statement to you of the benefit I have received from LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. I have been afflicted for twenty years with stomach trouble of the severest nature. Would have seasons of the severest suffering from one to two months at a time. Between these times of suffering was never longer than three months. There was never any time that I was entirely free from misery more or less. These spells of great suffering would sometimes come on with sickness and vomiting, and other times would come on in form of rheumatism, but would finally center itself in my stomach. I have doctored with a great many physicians, but none of them could tell me what the trouble was. I was unable to get relief until I got LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. It is now sixty days since I began taking this medicine, and am now for the first time in twenty years free from pain and misery. I am compelled to say it is a blessing to a poor man.

Had thought bear hunting fun;
Until, by chance, he struck one that
Soon got him on the run.

When, flying fast and out of breath,
A small cave he espied:
"To save me from a dreathful death'
I'll crawl in there!" he cried.

The bear soon left. He blessed his luck,
And tried then to crawl out;
Alas! his size had got him stuck—
He could not even shout.

Held there till starved to skin and bone,
He staid, stuck tight and fast;
Escaping thinner, wiser grown,
He made that hunt his last.

NICKEL PLATE WRECK

Twelve Cars in the Ditch at Leipsic, Ohio.

Machinist Charlie Meyer Surprised by His Friends—Shop and Office Gossip.

Eastbound freight train No. 44, on the Nickel Plate, met with a serious accident near West Leipsic, Ohio, at 9 o'clock last night. The train was behind time and was bowling along at a lively rate, when it encountered a broken rail and twelve cars left the track and piled up in the ditch. The tracks were completely blockaded and traffic was almost entirely suspended for several hours. The wreck crews from Fort Wayne, Bellevue and Stony Island were ordered out and are still at the scene picking up the wreckage. The unfortunate train was in charge of Conductor Harper.

MINOR MENTION.

Thomas Beals, of the Pittsburg round house, is sick and off duty.

Machinist William Beidt, of the Bass works, is quite sick with lung fever.

H. S. Barnard left today for Chicago, where he expects to live in the future.

G. Leischel, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is off duty on account of sickness.

Pittsburg engines 305, 195 and 142 were taken into the back shop for repairs this morning.

Nickel Plate Engineer Bert Baughman is off duty on account of the serious illness of his son.

Engineer Merriet and Fireman Staples, of the Nickel Plate, are taking a few days' recreation.

Machinist Bob Taylor, of the Bass works, has been off duty on account of sickness for the past week.

Nickel Plate Engineer Crosby and Fireman Wells are enjoying a few days' rest after a long and steady run.

C. A. Bowman and O. E. Lehneke, Nickel Plate brakemen, who were laying off a few days, resumed work this morning.

A meeting of the eastern lines interested in the summer tourist business has been called for next Thursday at Chicago.

James Short, the well known Nickel Plate engineer, is suffering with a badly inflammed eye, due to a cinder. He is off duty for treatment.

Grover Miller has been promoted from a freight to a passenger fireman and given a run with Engineer Moore on the Fourth district.

No. 78, a freight train on the Pittsburg, was stalled at Wanatah this morning, the engine being completely frozen up.

James Hartnett, yard foreman of the Wabash, is off duty on account of sickness.

John Bitticoffer, of the electric light works, is visiting friends in Kendallville.

John Seidel has gone to Hamilton, Ohio, to put up a gas plant for the Kerr Murray works.

A. L. Blake, machinist at the Pittsburg shops, has been transferred from the back shop to the round house.

James Lonagan, an engineer on the west end of the Wabash road, Andrews to Tipton, is visiting his father in this city.

Yesterday a change in the running time of freight trains on the Wabash road went into effect. Passenger trains were not affected.

The Haskel & Barker car works, Michigan City, have resumed operations in their wheel foundry with about seventy five men.

Tinsmith C. Wyburn, who was at Maples last week attending the funeral of his father, resumed his duties in the Pittsburg shops this morning.

There were twenty-five freight trains in and out of this city over the Pittsburg yesterday. Business is much better than it was a few weeks ago.

Frank Kebler has resigned his position with the Fort Wayne Furniture works and will probably return to his old vocation, that of railroading.

Engineer William Morris, who has been running a freight train for some years on the Nickel Plate, has been promoted to the passenger service.

Michael Ehrman, machinist at the Bass works, had an eye severely injured by a chip of steel Saturday. He was able to report for duty this morning.

John Reno, the founder of train robbing, is dead. In 1866 the first express robbery in this country was committed by John and his brothers near Rockford, Ind.

Machinist William Barkenrider has returned from Sheldon, Ind., where he was visiting his mother, who is ill. The lady is somewhat improved, but is still very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Weyer and children left Saturday for Delphos, Ohio, where they will spend a week with relatives. Mr. Weyer is a tinsmith employed at the Pittsburg shops.

Senator McLean's bill, recently introduced in the state senate, aims to make blacklisting impossible with railway officials. It is the outgrowth of the American Railway union strike.

The new shops of the Baltimore and Ohio and the yards to be built at Cumberland, Md., will be the most extensive in the country. The buildings alone will cover 650,000 square feet.

C. S. Shaw and G. Stanley are sick and L. F. Gleb is taking a vacation. All are Nickel Plate brakemen. Mr. Stanley had only made one trip over the road after being sick three weeks.

Ed. Bevington was killed in the freight yards at Cincinnati last Saturday. He used to be a trainman on the Grand Rapids and is known to most all the employes of that line in this city.

J. C. Stewart, who had a hand pinched between the drawbars at Leipsic, three weeks ago, went out on his run today for the first time since the accident. He is a Nickel Plate brakeman.

Blacksmith J. Q. Lysle, of the Bass works, who was unable to work the latter part of last week on account of the serious condition of his wife, reported for duty this morning. Mrs. Lysle is better.

Legislatures of several eastern states will this winter be asked to pass laws empowering trolley wires to haul freight. If such laws are passed it will cripple any road which has to meet the competition.

Henry Zauner, chief engineer at the power station on Spy Run avenue, and his bride arrived in the city Saturday evening, and for awhile will make their home with Mr. Zauner's parents, on Force street.

Nickel Plate engine 175, which for some time was hauling one of the passenger trains, will hereafter haul through freight between Fort Wayne and Bellevue, with Engineer Braithwait at the throttle.

George Petsinger is undoubtedly entitled to the championship of rabbit killers. Last week he shot seventy-three of the cotton tails, and distributed them among his friends in the Pittsburg shops and elsewhere.

Work was resumed in the shops of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City at Frankfort, Ind., last Friday. The shop fund allowed by the receiver became exhausted two weeks ago, which caused a temporary shut down.

By a new process recently devised by Superintendent McKenna, of the Great Northern old rails can be turned into new by putting them through a crucible, the cost being $8 per ton less than the cost of replacing with new rails.

General Freight Agent Russell, of the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western, is busily engaged in getting up a pro-rate freight sheet, which will give the rate to every important railway city in the country. At present the company's rate sheet only covers its own line.

The Nickel Plate had a big run of freight trains through this city yesterday and last night. The trains ran in from two to six sections. Last week's business on the line was an improvement over its predecessors and this week promises even better business.

Robert Jenkins, the express agent who robbed his employes at Richmond, Ind., plead guilty Saturday and was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, disfranchised for three years and fined $1. Nine indictments are still against him, but they will probably be dismissed.

It is estimated that 80 per cent. of the employes of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, shopmen, trainmen and sectionmen, belong to the Voluntary Relief association. It is optional with the men whether they become members of the relief. On the Baltimore and Ohio it is compulsory.

E. J. King resumed work in the laboratory at the electric light works this morning after an illness.

James Oliver, sr., and James Oliver, jr., of the Wabash shops, are off duty today on account of sickness.

G. F. Horstmeyer, carpenter in the Wabash shops, returned to work this morning after two weeks' illness.

If the plans now under contemplation materialize the Illinois Central will eventually have lines running into Louisville and Atlanta.

William Zeutemaster, a clerk at the electric light works, went to Richmond last Saturday to remain during the inventory, now in progress at the works.

George Graham, of 622 South Calhoun street, is entertaining his father, mother and sister, Miss Mary Graham, of Crestline. Yesterday there was a reunion of the Graham family at the above number and the affair was one to be long remembered by all those present.

The change from zero to moderate weather will be hailed with delight by the trainmen, who do not like extreme cold. In very cold weather it is dangerous to run trains faster than schedule time and when once behind it is impossible to make stations on time. Hence last week all trains were late in reaching this city.

Mrs. C. Sullivan, of 23 Taylor street, is suffering with a badly sprained foot. Saturday night she was descending the stairs to open the door for her son Patrick, who is a flagman on the Pittsburg road and who had just come in from his run. When about half way down stairs Mrs. Sullivan slipped and fell to the bottom, sustaining the injury to her foot.

A special carrying a theatrical party, fifty-three in number, passed over the Wabash yesterday. The train made a good run from Toledo to this city, all things considered. It left that city at 12:15 and reached here at 2:20. The train consisted of a chair car, a coach and a baggage car. The party were en route to Indianapolis and were turned over to the Lake Erie and Western at Peru.

The Chicago, Paducah and Memphis railway ran its first passenger train over the line from Altamont, Ill., to Marion, Ill., yesterday. The road is 106 miles long. Among the important shipping points are St. Elmo, Kinmundy, Salem, Mount Vernon and Benton. The line traverses a fine farming and fruit section, and near the southern end taps one of the best coal belts in Illinois.

George Saul, president and general manager of the Ohio Southern, claims to have operated the road in 1894 on 47 per cent. of the gross earnings. Sixty-four per cent. is about the average cost of operating a road, and that must be under favorable circumstances. While operating the road on so small a per cent., he claims that the property has been fully maintained.

President Ingalls, of the Big Four, has given heads of departments and agents instructions to look after the industries located on the several divisions of the system, and wherever it is for the company's interest to notify Chief Engineer Kittredge and have switches laid. A switch 1,800 feet in length was ordered this week to be put in at New Castle, Ind., leading to a couple of manufactories being erected at that point.

F. Charles Meyer, the machinist in the Pittsburg shops, was forty-two years old yesterday, and in the afternoon he was the victim of a surprise party, about forty of his friends dropping in upon him and taking him completely unawares. At 7 o'clock the Schubert Mandolin club, which had been playing at the Randall, also called at the Meyer residence and added to the enjoyment of the occasion by rendering some excellent music. Although greatly surprised, Mr. and Mrs. Meyers were equal to the occasion, and during the evening set a delicious lunch for their guests. The affair was one of the most pleasant of the season and none enjoyed it more than did the genial host. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer live at No. 337 Force street.

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

His Accounts With His Mother.

On July 17, 1753, Washington opened an account, still extant, against Mrs. Mary Washington. There are many charges in this account, chiefly for money lent his mother annually or oftener to the close of her life. Beneath the last entry is written, "Settled."

"Yield Not to Misfortune."

I was afflicted with catarrh last autumn. During the month of October I could neither taste or smell and hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus Geo. Shantz, Rahway, N. J.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill. Cream Balm is agreeable.

The highly talented composer and leader, also director of the famous Chautauqua School of Music, Prof. W. F. Sherwin, commends the World's Sweetest Songs in substance as follows: "They are a most charming collection for the home circle. The selections show fine taste and excellent judgment, while the variety is wonderful, stretching away from the simple Cradle Song to Haydn's Aria "With Verdure Clad." They will bring genial sunshine and refinement to the home." tf

MOONSHINERS.

Nine of Them Captured and Thrown in Jail.

They Give the Internal Revenue Officers a Lively Fight Before They Surrender.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Keller Anderson returned this morning from Hardin couty, Tennessee, where he had a lively round with members of the Thomas gang of moonshiners. After a skirmish, in which a dozen shots were fired on either side without injury to the collector's party, nine moonshiners were captured and jailed at Selmer, the Hardin county seat. It is reported that one of the moonshiners, who escaped, was wounded.

JAPENESE REJECT

The Chinese Peace Commissioners Because of Defective Credentials.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Secretary Gresham has received a cablegram from Minister Dun at Tokio confirming the Associated Press report of the rejection of the Chinese peace commissioners by the Japanese on the ground that their credentials were defective in not granting them plenary powers.

No word whatever has been received up to 10:30 a. m. regarding the reported capture of a part of the force of the United States steamship Concord.

It appears, in fact, that the envoys did not even have a proposition from China to make to the Japanese but apparently came to find out in a general way what it was that the Japanese wanted as terms of peace.

THE DOG DID IT.

He Would Have Faced It Out, but Luck Was Against Him.

His forehead was full of puckers, and there was a general air of nonsense about him when his sister bounced into the room.

"Hello! What's up?"

"Oh, nothing! You don't happen to know of an easy, quiet way to kill a dog, do you?"

"Not Elsie's dear little pug?"

"Just him."

"Been chewing up your new hat again, or has she broken her promise in regard to kissing him?"

"Neither. I may as well tell you all about it myself, for she is sure to do it anyhow. Say, sis, do you think you could make it up?"

"I don't know. Maybe. The fact is I can't fix my mind on anything until I get that Persian lamb cape."

"Oh, you can have the cape if you want it."

"May I really? Oh, you dear, dear boy! I only wanted to have my mind at rest so I could devote it to your affairs."

He groaned: "Well, Elsie wanted me to take her to see the new pictures at the Art Institute yesterday afternoon. I told her I was awfully sorry, but I really couldn't get off; that I was rushed to death at the office and wouldn't get away until 6 o'clock. She said it didn't really matter. We could go next week."

"H'm, that looks suspicious! Elsie isn't the girl to give in so easily unless"—

"Oh, that wasn't it. The truth is that Miss Edith is in town for a day or two. Of course that was all off long ago, but she used to be awfully fond of me, and when she said, with a little quiver in her voice, that she wanted just one afternoon like old times to remember I couldn't refuse her."

"M'hm! Did you happen to know that Miss Edith is in town buying her wedding garments?"

"The—I beg your pardon. The truth is, this new woman is entirely too smart. Some day the men will rebel, and—oh, pshaw, what is the use in talking? We went up to Lincoln park and then sauntered down the drive. It was growing a little dusk, and we were leaning on the sea wall looking at the lake—well, maybe she was leaning a little against my shoulder."

"Of course she was. I know Edith."

"Just then I heard a familiar bark that sent cold chills all through me. I looked up, and there was Elsie within ten feet of me leading that beast by his chain."

"Why didn't you tell me, silly, what you were going to do? I could have told you that she always gives Punch his airing there."

"I wish I had. Well, I was thunderstruck. Then, like a flash, it came over me that she had never seen Edith and how often she had scolded me for dressing just like everybody else. So I just decided to bluff it out."

"Oh, nonsense, you should have"—

"Too late now. She saw me, saw Edith, dropped the chain and cried out, 'Why, Harry, I thought you couldn't leave the office until 8 o'clock!' I looked perfectly blank, took off my hat and said in a very deep voice: 'I beg your pardon, madam, but there must be some mistake. My name is not Harry at all but Albert—Albert Brownsmith.'"

"Well, I never! Did it work?"

"She turned first red, then white, wavered and began to stammer, 'I—I beg your pardon, I'— when up dashed that wretched beast. He recognized me at once and jumped all over me, barking and licking my hand. I tell you it was an awful moment."—Chicago Tribune.

Dr. Johnson and Geography.

A great deal of the low esteem in which geography has been held in England, a country which has produced more sailors, travelers and explorers than any other nation in Europe, must be attributed to ideas of our literary men on the subject.

Among others, no man openly expressed a more cynical disdain of travel and travelers than the great Dr. Johnson. "These books," quoth he, pointing to three large volumes of voyages to the South sea which had just come out, "who will read them? A man had better work his way before the mast than read them through. They will be eaten by rats and mice before they are read through. There can be little entertainment in such books. One set of savages is like another." And on another occasion, when poor Boswell told him that he had been in conversation with Captain Cook and had caught the enthusiasm of curiosity and adventure to such a degree that he felt a strong inclination to go with him, Johnson exclaimed, "Why, sir, a man does feel so till he considers how very little he can learn from such voyages."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Butter Flakes.

An Ohio dairy woman attributes the presence of white flakes in butter to the fact that when cream gets too warm the acid formed turns little particles of milk to curd. A current of air passing over the surface of the cream also dries it, and dried flakes are formed.

WHERE THE OLD THIRD DIED.

How a Regiment Gradually Succumbed to the Horrors of War.

A regiment of infantry 1,000 strong marching out of rendezvous in time of war will number 50 less within a month. Men fall sick, men are detailed, the cowards desert. Before it has seen its first battle its strength will have been reduced to 900 men. More men will be in hospital, others detailed, others go down on the rolls as "missing" or "not accounted for." Brigades, regiments and companies waste away in a queer, strange manner, but the wasting can never be checked by any effort.

The old Third had its full 1,000 when we went out for the front. A month after reaching Washington we were 60 less. After Bull Run we numbered only 800. After the peninsula campaign we fell to 750. The bullet counted scarce a dozen, the wounded only a score. The others could be accounted for by the hospital records, by details and desertions. Recruits came to us now and then, but the wastage was more than the gain. Now and then half a dozen old men returned from the hospital, and now and then an order was issued calling in all detailed men. The wastage was only checked for a day, however. From 1,000 we fell to 600. From 600 we filled up to 800, and from 800 we dropped back to 650. There were but few details, but fever, dysentery and the enemy's bullets cut us off much faster than recruits came in.

The old Third was the flower of the brigade, and the other regiments were not jealous of a reputation earned by the fierce fighting. On two occasions all the others broke back and left the Third to stop the rush of a brigade. Three different times the salvation of a battery depended on its pluck, and it left its dead in rows and saved the guns. Recruits finally got afraid of the old Third. Its glory had been won by hard fighting. It was a regiment to be depended on and was therefore pushed into battle while other regiments were held in support. To belong to the Third meant fight, and fighting meant wounds or death. The recruit selected some other regiment in preference, and the bounty men turned with us only a few hours. Wherever McClellan, Pope, McDowell, Burnside, Hooker or Meade went the old Third followed. It was at first Bull Run, at Williamsburg, at Yorktown, in the seven days' fight which ended at Malvern Hill. It was at Antietam, at Fredericksburg, at Chancellorsville. When Grant moved on Lee in the Wilderness, the Third followed. It was no longer a regiment except in name. Its strength had dwindled down to 380 men, and orders had been issued that it must be consolidated with some other skeleton regiment. The forward movement took place before the orders could be carried out, and so the 300 went marching after their old and faded and battle scarred flag and swung their caps and cheered as they marched. Some officers looked on and said it was pitiful, but others gave cheer for cheer and said the old Third with its 380 would reap new laurels if given a show.

Down there in the dark and tangled forest Grant found Lee blocking his path to Richmond. The dogs of war grappled on the three or four narrow highways, around the few farmhouses, in the somber forest and in the dense thickets. Only here and there was an enemy to be seen, only here and there a spot where regiments faced each other and fought to hold the key to a position.

"By the right flank, march!" went the old Third before the battle was two hours old, and after moving half a mile we took up a position to cover the crossing of two highways. It was blind fighting, a battle of blindfolded men.

No one knew the strength of the enemy in front. We were simply ordered to fight him if he appeared and hold him till reinforcements came to us. We had not been in position ten minutes when we realized that annihilation awaited us if we did not retreat. Our colonel was ill in the hospital at Washington and the next in command at home with a wound. The major, thrice wounded and thrice returned to duty, stood on the open highway and looked along the short line made by the 300 and then at the advancing enemy. Their bullets were flying about him as he shouted at us:

"Men, they are going to consolidate the old Third with a regiment which has run away twice on the field of battle. Do you want this to come about?"

"No, no, no!" shouted 300 voices.

"You can prevent it if you will. This is the old Third's last fight. Let there be nothing to consolidate when it is over."

He was cheered again and again, and the men were cheering as they fired their first volley. Some of the war histories have given a few lines to it. One, two, three thousand men came down upon the 300. They came in front and on each flank, and they finally encircled the skeleton regiment. Surrender was called for, but refused. There was no breaking back, no running away. It was a fight to the death, and when the enemy finally triumphed only 22 of the 300 were left alive and unwounded to be carried off as prisoners. There was no longer any old Third. It was wiped out. No flag, no roster, no officers, no men. There were dead to be buried, but no living men to march on with Grant and lose their identity by consolidation.

In after days letters came down from the north for members of the Third. They were sent away to Washington marked, "Not found." Officers rode through the camps asking for the quarters of the Third. No one could tell them unless they applied at brigade headquarters. Then the answer was: "There is no Third. It died in the Wilderness." M. QUAD.

A Strange Story.

A young man, walking to the house of his brother, a yeoman, found the inn at a neighboring town very full. He shared the room of a merchant who was openly counting out his money. Having occasion to visit the garden, and also to borrow a knife, he accepted the loan of a knife from the merchant. On returning to his room he found the merchant gone. He went to bed, slept, rose early, walked to his brother's and was arrested in the afternoon for murdering the merchant. In his pocket was that tradesman's knife, and between blade and handle was a guinea of Mary and William. At the inn the merchant's empty bed was stained with blood, and, though the merchant's body was nowhere to be found, the young man was condemned for murder and hanged in chains on his brother's farm. Here a swain observed that the body moved. It was cut down, life was reanimated, and the youth fled to sea. Taken by Spaniards in South America, he rose to be warden of the jail, and while in enjoyment of that office recognized among some English prisoners the person for whose murder he had suffered.

The fact was that the merchant, while the youth was absent in the garden, discovered that he was bleeding freely from a vein which had been opened that day. He hurried to the surgeon in the dark, was seized by a press gang, served his Britannic majesty in a ship of war, was taken by the Spaniards and at last met in a jail of South America the very man who had been hanged for murdering him in England.—Saturday Review.

Not Singular, but Floral.

An amusing story is told of an Oxford undergraduate who was so confident that he had passed an examination he had recently been in for that he did not trouble to go down to the schools to get his testamur, but asked a friend to do so for him. When his friend got there, the cupboard was bare—there was no testamur for his self confident friend. He therefore brought word back to his friend that he had not satisfied the examiners, as there was no testamur for him. His friend, being very indignant, said that he would certainly write to the examiners and inform them that they must have ploughed him by a mistake. So he wrote the following letter:

"DEAR SIRS—I fear that in my recent examination you must have ploughed me by a mistake."

After a few days he received the following reply:

"DEAR SIR—The examiners present their compliments to Mr. —— and beg to state that he was ploughed by a great many mistakes."—Tit-Bits.

Nothing is more agreeable on retiring for the night than to take a bowl of hot broth, like oatmeal gruel or clam soup. It is a positive aid to nervous people and induces peaceful slumbers. This is especially the case on cold winter nights, when the stomach craves warmth as much as any other part of the body. Even a glass of hot milk is grateful to the palate on such occasions, but a light, well cooked gruel is better and during the cold months of winter should be the retiring food of every woman who feels, as many do, the need of food at night.

BOILER CLEANSING COMPOUND.

The attention of owners of steam boilers is called to the old and reliable never-failing Boiler Cleansing Compound, Lord's Patent Improved, for the removing of old scales and preventing of new in steam boilers.

This Compound does not vaporise, and is in consequence being successfully used by Refineries, Breweries, Cracker Bakeries, Candy manufactories, Hotels, Laundries, and many other establishments where pure live steam is required.

This Compound is substantially endorsed by U. S. Chemists, who have made chemical examinations, proclaiming it absolutely free from acids, agents so often resorted to in compounding so called boiler compounds, often used with fatal results to steam boilers and their connections.

The success of this Compound is the outcome of a lifetime study by a competent firm, and the great secret of their success is, that each and every package is prepared especially to suit the occasion.

This celebrated Compound is manufactured by Thos. C. Warley & Co., (successors to S. W. Lord & Co.,) of Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BIG SALE

Of the C. ... stock continues to grow every day. The Public are taking a lively interest in this great Slaughter Sale of the Lauferty Stock, and we'll take care that the interest does not lag until every dollar's worth of

CLOTHING,

Hats and Furnishing Goods

Is disposed of. Each day's sales surpass the other, and if we keep on with the increase there won't be much left of the stock when we are ready to talk about our new spring merchandise.

LOW PRICES

For GOOD, HONEST MERCHANDISE, is the magnet with which we are drawing this great volume of business. No sale where there has been such utter disregard of cost and values has ever taken place in this city before. We own this stock so cheap that we are prepared to do wonders in the way of low prices and still be able to make a small margin of profit

OUR DEAR COMPETITORS

Are very much rattled and are doing us an excellent turn in advertising our sale. One prospective competitor, in particular, is driven to such desperation that he has allowed himself to become almost personal in his advertisements. We are simply waiting for

The Infant to be Born

And, in the meantime, we'll attend strictly to our own business and to the charging of our batteries—later on we may deem it business policy to press the button.

Captain Billy Stewart writes from Piqua, Ohio, of an accident that happened to him one day last week. He was driving from Troy to Piqua when his horses became frightened at an electric car. His wagon collided with the car and was badly smashed, the injury being about $50. He says he will put a tented show out about the 10th of May for the season. He is at Greenville, Ohio, this week.

Mrs. Huntsman, an aged lady, met a serious accident last evening. She started for church from her home on West Williams street, and when near the corner of Harrison and Williams streets slipped and fell. She was carried back to her home. Dr. Eesley was summoned and found that the lady had suffered a bad fracture of the right shoulder blade. Mrs. Huntsman is past seventy years of age, and the fracture is considered a dangerous one.

Yesterday was another red letter day in the history of the Plymouth Congregational church. An audience that filled the beautiful auditorium greeted the pastor as he stepped upon the platform. The services were deeply impressive, and twenty new members, ranging in age from a little girl of ten years to a father of more than three score and ten, were received into the fellowship of the church. In the evening a bright, people's service was held, followed by an after meeting, to which nearly the entire audience remained.

One of the most wonderful instruments seen in this city is the plectrophone, a combination guitar, mandolin, harp and many other stringed instruments. Last evening it was given a test in the Randall dining hall before some 200 guests at dinner. The instrument was manipulated by Prof. C. M. Hands, representing the John Church Music company. The invention is a simple little attachment that is put on the piano, by means of which the tone and effects of a harp, mandolin, guitar, and other stringed instruments can be correctly reproduced. The arrangement consists of a metal bar, from which are pendant narrow leather strips with a small copper rivet on the end. The Shubert Mandolin quartet was also present and they and the plectrophone made the very air sing.

MRS. D. B. WELLS

Delivers a Sunday Afternoon Address at the R. R. Y. M. C. A.

The audience room of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon was crowded with ladies and gentlemen to hear the address of Mrs. D. B. Wells, the principal of the Westminster Seminary of this city. She was introduced by General Secretary J. W. Burns, and from the beginning of her address until its close held her audience by the interesting and practical manner in which she handled her theme.

It afforded her pleasure, she said, to have the privilege of talking to a body of railroad men—the men to whom during the last five years, in her travels over the country, she was indebted for so many courtesies. As a body of employes they were performing an important and responsible mission in the world. They often carry our lives in their hands, and to their caution and devotion to duty we were indebted for our safety in travel. She honored the railroad engineer, fireman, conductor and brakeman, and there was, she said, no occupation in which cool heads and brave hearts were oftener found than among the railroad men of our country.

The theme of Mrs. Wells' address was "Personal weakness," discussing the subject from a religious standpoint. Our strength in religious life, she said, comes from God. We are dependent upon Him, and relying upon Him He will give us what is best for us. He is our Heavenly Father, and knows our wants better than we do ourselves.

The meeting was one that was full of interest. The singing, which was conducted by a chorus of twenty voices, was in the hands of ladies and gentlemen from the choirs of the Christian and United Brethren churches, led by H. A. Philley. The chorister was Al. Haldon.

TALKS TO YOUNG MEN.

Dr. C. A. Dorman at the City Y. M. C. A. Yesterday Afternoon.

About 100 young men, from fifteen years of age up, were present at the City Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon to hear Dr. C. A. Dorman, of New Haven, Conn., in his talk to young men only. The meeting opened with singing and prayer and Dr. Dorman, from the start, won the sympathetic attention of all present by the Christian manner in which he handled his subject. He was listened to with the closest attention and the lessons which he gave must have sunk deep into the hearts of all present, a lying from the fervent ... in which all bowed their heads for prayer and benediction. Dr. Dorman will be here on next Sunday at the same place, delivering a similar lecture.

Miss Mary Esmond, of Omaha, Neb., is the guest of Miss Jessie Sweet, at Indianapolis. In a few weeks both Miss Sweet and Miss Esmond will be the guests of Mrs. Frank Sessions and Mrs. A. W. Pickard in this city.

The Duodecimo club met this afternoon with Mrs. Henry Wolfe at her home on South Broadway. Mrs. Sperry conducted the lesson on "Annexation of Texas" and "Close of Mexican War." A paper on "The Financial Panic" was read by Mrs. W. H. Crighton.

Miss Eva and Edna Bowser gave a very pleasant party Saturday afternoon. Luncheon was served at 2 o'clock. The guests were Misses Mary Estry, Nancy Wass, Meble Hock, Maud Slago, Hazle Vanalstine, Goldie Mamer, Alice Doyle, Clara Breny, Bessie Orr, Jennie Rhine.

At the last meeting of the Morning Musical the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. H. Meyers; vice president, Mrs. S. C. Lumbard; recording secretary, Miss Fannie Winch, corresponding secretary, Miss M. Belle Clark; treasurer, Mrs. S. B. Brown; librarian, Miss Katherine McDougal.

A very pretty and impressive baptismal service took place Sunday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Herring, of East Creighton avenue, when the little children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Jesse, were christened: William Charles, Arthur Francis and Elsie Louise, the Rev. Paschall officiating.

At their pleasant home in Lafayette township, Tuesday, January 29, occurred Mr. and Mrs. William Lopshire's fiftieth wedding anniversary. Mr. Lopshire was presented with a beautiful gold watch and chain, and Mrs. Lopshire with a handsome gold decorated dinner set and a pair of gold spectacles, these from their children. Many other beautiful presents were sent by their friends. Dinner was served at noon. Among the children were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lopshire, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lopshire of Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lopshire, of Lafayette township, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lopshire, of Warren Ill., besides many old friends of the couple.

Yesterday morning at St. Peter's Catholic church the bans of marriage were for the first time published between Miss Gertrude Franke and Mr. Martin Rinehart. The young people are both well known. Miss Franke resides on South Hanna street and Mr. Rinehart is the well known South Calhoun street grocer.

To be a hostess that at once enjoys entertaining and makes entertaining enjoyable, there must not be an overamount of worrying done. The truest hospitality does not mean that which overburdens the recipient with a sense of his or her debt due for the honors heaped upon them. It does not harass the existence of the visitor by excess zeal in the matter of excursions, fetes and other features of social welcome, but it calmly takes the outsider into the enjoyment of home happiness, and when something is especially prepared for the stranger's edification it is not done in such an aggressive fashion that it comes more like a sword thrust than a sign of genial friendship.

The hostess who feels that a fit of nervous prostration is imminent as she waves farewell to her departing guests has much to learn in the true art of entertaining. The considerate visitor makes his or her presence a joy that is sadly missed when the time of departure arrives. The true hostess causes that time to appear all too quickly, as her unobtrusive cordiality sets the visitor at ease, and a week or month passes by in true enjoyment that is not found in a treadmill of going, and which is far more acceptable to the sensible visitor—the sort of one most delightful to entertain.

At the corner of Clinton and Montgomery streets a well developed foetus was found lying in the snow last evening by some children. It was wrapped in a newspaper and was taken in charge by Coroner Harrod.

MEANS TROUBLE.

Iron Manufacturers Call for a Revision of Wages.

The Four Dollar Per Ton Puddling Rate Will Be Maintained No Longer.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Feb 4.—The Mahoning and Shenango Valley Iron Manufacturers' association, composed of the leading iron concerns in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania, has served notice upon the Amalgamated association that at the expiration of thirty days a revision of the wage scale will be expected. This means that the $4 per ton rate for puddling will be maintained no longer. Already a sixty days' notice to the Finishers' union, for the same purpose, has been given, and it looks as though before many weeks have rolled by that this section will be the scene of a considerable discussion over iron workers' wages. The largest part of the membership of the two unions is in this city and surrounding towns. Manufacturers claim that Pittsburg competitors are granted such concessions that they get all the business going.

GOING TO SEE!

These are the three wise men from the east—they are wise because they have been to see our Renovation Sale and bought their Hats and Caps at half-price, and because they are going to wait and see our new stock of Clothing before they buy their next suit of clothes.

They know that we have the best line of Trunks, Travelling Bags, and in fact everything in our line handled in Fort Wayne.

WASHBURN CROSBY'S "GOLD - MEDAL" - FLOUR

Took the Gold Medal at the greatest Expositions of the World.

At the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, 1876.

At Miller's Exposition, Cincinnati, 1880.

Last and greatest at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893.

And we know by the expression of thousands who have visited the People's Store that they would gladly give us still another

GOLD MEDAL.
